Princeton Murder Trial Jury Hears Kin of Slain Man

Tells of Threat Made Against Neufcour by Harry Dhamer

Princeton, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dhamer, charged with murdering Charles Neufcour, Sheffield farmer, continued today after Neufcour's brother-in-law, Ondre Driessens, testified Dhamer had often threatened the victim.

Driessens, who left the courtroom weeping, yesterday told the the jury Dhamer had once said of Neufcour, "I'll get him if it takes 20 years." Neufcour died in a Peoria hospital two weeks after being shot last October.

Driessens said Dhamer approached him with the statement: "I'll put your brother-in-law in the penitentiary for using knockout drops on my wife. I'll get him if it takes 20 years."

The witness also said Mrs. Dhamer had made many visits to the farm where Neufcour worked as a hired hand. One visit Driessen said, was made after midnight, the couple leaving about 5:00 o'clock in the morning. Driessens also settified that the victim kept an appointment in Peoria with Mrs. Dhamer on March 12, 1911.

Corrects Testimony

Under cross examination Driessens corrected his testimony that Neufcour and Mrs. Dhamer had held hands under the table during a card game. In answer to questions by defense counsel Josef T. Skinner, he said he had seen the couple with their hands under the table but he could not see whether they were holding hands.

During this cross examination, Driessens broke down and walked from the court weeping audibly. Circuit Judge Lewis A. Zearing, who called a recess at that point, resumed the trial later before a

Complaint in Chancery on Ellsworth Estate

A complaint in chancery has been filed in the Lee county Circuit court in which State's Attorney M. C. Pires, representing H. C. Warner, brings action against Esther M. Watkins, unknown children of Esther M. Watkins who may survive her, unknown nieces and nephews of Clinton D. Ellsworth who may be living at the date of the death of Esther M. Watkins, unknown issue of deceased nieces and nephews of C. D. Ellsworth, deceased, surviving at the death of Esther M. Watkins and unknown others."

The complaint states that C. D. Ellsworth of Alto township passed away Sept. 15, 1838 and in his will H. C. Warner was named executor and trustee of the estate. The petition seeks the appointment by the court of the plaintiff to act as trustee of the estate.

Nazi Justice Killed In Raid on Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

Dr. Ronald Freisler, president of the German Peoples' court, "lost his life in the American mass air attack on Berlin last Saturday," the British radio said today.

The broadcast, which quoted Swedish correspondents, said Freisler presided at the secret trial in which four German generals were sentenced to death on charges of participating in the purported bomb attack on Hitler last July.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

If General Eisenhower isn't on the verge of flinging a mighty offensive against the German Rhenish defenses, he certainly is giving a most convincing imitation of a man with such intention.

The Hitlerite spokesmen say there's no doubt the storm is about to break. The whole allied front is throbbing with invasionitis. Allied fighting men stand on or inside the German frontier along a 160-mile line, from Roermond in the north to war-blasted Saarbruecken in the south.

On the northern flank the British Second Army and General Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army, having recently improved their positions, are poised for action. Below them General Hodges' U. S. First Army and General Patton's shellrasing Third are smashing into the German Siegfried defenses in what could be restricted operations but look like preliminaries to a big drive.

All this presents an intriguing military anomaly. It runs counter to what one would expect under normal conditions, because this is a bad time of year for a major assault.

Gloomy

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Housewives, who know first hand all about the shortage of certain foods, were given some of the gloomy details today.

The labor department reported that in mid-January more than a third of independent retail grocery stores in 56 large cities had no beef, pork loins, lamb, mutton or hams. More than half the stores were "completely out" of bacon and veal, the department's survey showed.

Also off the shelves in more than a third of the stores were butter, shortening, canned fruits and pineapple juice.

Supplies of staples, such as potatoes and flour, "continued to be in ample supply, the department said. Sugar stocks improved slightly.

But canned salmon, while in better supply than in December, was "still one of the scarcest foods, as 58 per cent of the grocers had none for sale."

Supplies of fresh meats varied greatly with stores in large cities of the Rocky Mountain area having "the best stocked meat counters in the nation".

"Big Three" Chart Defeat of Germany, European Problems

Black Sea Confab Also Considers Proposals For Future Peace

(By The Associated Press)

The Big Three leaders are meeting today somewhere in the Black sea area in their second historic war council.

With their highest diplomatic and military advisers President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill now are engaged in critical political discussions.

A White House announcement late yesterday said the military phase of the discussions has ended.

The report said three overall political subjects are being considered:

1) Joint plans "for the occupation and control of Germany."

2) The "political and economic problems of liberated Europe."

3) Proposals for the "earliest possible establishment of a permanent international organization to maintain peace."

The "Black sea area" covers the shores of Russia, Romania, Turkey and Bulgaria. Moscow press and radio announcement said the meeting was on Russian soil.

The official announcement, released simultaneously in Washing-

Williams Ignorant, Says Sen. McKellar

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), fighting the nomination of Aubrey Williams to head the REA, declared today "he knows nothing about rural matters and nothing about electricity."

"I'm a Presybterian," McKellar told the senate agriculture committee, "but suppose by some chance the Catholic church should elect me Pope of Rome. I would be no more out of place than Aubrey Williams would be as head of the Rural Electrification Administration."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) broke in to say that Williams had more experience to fit him for the job "than Ed Stettinius did for secretary of state."

McKeller said there were so many things that happened in the appropriations committee concerning Williams and the WPA and

February Thaw Within 48 Hours Is Predicted; East Alerted for Flood

(By The Associated Press)

A February thaw which Chicago forecasters expected would encompass the whole northern part of the nation within 48 hours set in today in the northern Rocky Mountain area.

It was practically made to order to melt away heavy accumulations of snow and ice in the midwestern and northeastern states but it also carried the meance of subsequent floods in the east. Pennsylvania already was alerted and began mobilizing for an emergency.

A warm dryw ind on the east slope of the Rockies, sent the mercury zooming to 51 at Denver.

Forecasters said the warm weather would move into the northern plains today, then spread through the upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region tomorrow and later into the northeast. They anticipated no further precipitation of consequence.

Pennsylvania state and federal authorities warned that conditions like those before the 1936 floods, ice jams, rising temperatures, deep snow and prospect of rain, again prevailed from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. Distribution of typhoid vaccine began, war veterans and civilian defense workers mobilized and the Coast Guard said its rescue boats were ready.

Massachusetts battened down its hatches, expecting a wintry windstorm to hit tonight, with gale force offshore.

Chicago forecasters said the east generally would have a drop in temperature, but not to severe levels, before effects of the western thaw reached there.

There was still some subzero weather last night and early today, including 8 below zero at Alexandria and Willmar, Minn.

Three to five inches of new snow were deposited in Wisconsin, Michigan, northern Illinois and northern Indiana. Iowa had light snow.

Siegfried Line Cut By Yanks

First Army Fights Way Through Double Line of Reich's Defense

Paris, Feb 8—(AP)—TTe American First Army drove clear through the last barriers of the double Siegfried Line 15 mlies southeast of Aachen today, captured bloody Schmidt and neared the Roer river dams and reservoirs which had been a major factor in checkmating the western front offensive last November.

(The German communique said "preparations for the big allied attack continue along the Roer." The enemy said a major offensive was imminent with Cologne, the Rhine and industrial Ruhr as objectives. American troops outside Dueren are 20 miles from Cologne. Capture of the dams might prove the starting signal for the onslaught.)

The largest of the dams, the 985-foot thick Schwammenauel, is just over two miles from Schmidt. A combat team of the 78th Division reached the nortern bank of its reservoir.

The dam system is capable of sending an 18-foot wall of water down the 36 miles of the Roer to Roermond. Any troops which had crossed the Roer to the Cologne plain last fall could have been trapped by German-made floods within four hours.

Another Breach South

Farther south in the 70-mile active front, the Third Army poured through a seven mile breach in the Siegfried Line to within a mile and a quarter of the fortress and communications hub of Pruem, 53 miles southwest of the large Rhine city of Coblenz.

The attacks at Schmidt and Preum appeared to be the beginning of a breakthrough to the Rhine. Schmidt, which was one of the strongest belt posistions in the Siegfried Line, is 28 miles from

U. S. Battle Losses Hit 764,584 Mark, Army, Navy Reveal

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—American combat casualties since the beginning of the war have reached 764,584, the Army and Navy disclosed today.

Secretary of War Stimson placed the Army's losses at 676,796 while the Navy listed its total as 87,788. This represented an overall increase of 27,242 since last week's report.

Stimson said the Army casualties represented a compilation of individual names received in Washington through Jan. 28 and reflected battle developments at the end of December and the beginning of January.

The secretary said 865,000 Germans have been taken prisoner on the western front since the invasion last June.

Figures Broken Down

A breakdown on the Army's casualties and corresponding figures for last week follows: Killed 130,266 and 121,676; wounded 396,176 and 379,638; missing 91,476 and 91,573; prisoners 58,878 and 57,533.

Stimson told a news conference that 4,522 of those killed previously had been listed as missing but now have been declared dead. He also disclosed that 191,439 of the wounded have returned to duty.

Similar figures on the Navy breakdown: Killed 33,192 and 32,889; wounded 40,248 and 39,807; missing 9,873 and 9,750; prisoners 4,473 and 4,476. A decrease in the later category reflects transfers to other classifications.

Here's One Booby Trap That Fizzled Thanks to Courage

Temple, Tex., Feb. 8—(AP)—Pvt. William H. Edgar's foot was blown off and he was crying for water, but the three Germans ignored his plea. They wired explosives to his body, and left him—a human booby trap.

Edwards told his strange story today at McCloskey General hospital here . . . how his right foot had been blown off by a mine . . . How the Germans fastened the explosives to him . . . How he knew that if he moved he was doomed . . . . Or of help came when he was unconscious, he and his rescuers would be killed.

And he lay there for hours between American and German lines in the Huertgen forest, under a constant artillery barrage. German 88 shell fragments hit his left leg as he waited.

It all started simply enough. Private Edwards said today. This member of the Fourth Infantry Division, who has a wife and six children in Hayti, Mo., had begun what was to have been a 40-minute night patrol.

Near the German lines, Edwards stepped on a mine which blew off his foot. He lay quietly until morning, fearing that any sound would betray his comrades.

Curious Wound

He could not bandage his wound, but fortunately it was one of those curious injuries in which the veins and arteries are forced upward so they are, in a manner, sealed.

At 10:30 a. m., he called for a medic. The enemy heard him and began a search but did not find him.

Soon afterwards a pebble hit his leg and he heard an American medic whisper: "Are you a GI?"

"Hell, yes, I'm a GI," he replied.

"Dont' make any noise and we'll get you out," the medic whispered. They crawled to him and lifted him from the ground, but the Germans had seen the rescuers and sent a rifle bullet crashing into the hand of one of the medics.

Refused Water

Unprotected, they dropped back. Later they tried to get to him again but German fire drove them away.

When darkness of the second night fell, three Germans came. He asked for a drink of water. They refused it. They took his field jacket, divided up five packages of cigarets in the pockets, then set to work booby-trapping him.

"I lay on the charge the next day and into the night," he said. "I smoked some cigarets the Germans failed to find in my shirt pocket. I sure thought I was a goner. I knew I would never leave the forest alive."

About 2 a. m., two men of another company went in to get the wounded. Still conscious, he directed the cutting of the wires to the charge under his back. And they carried him away.

He had lain there for 70 hours.

Oder Line Overcome By Soviets

Moscow Has People of Berlin in Panic as Russians Near

BULLETIN

London, Feb. 8—A Finnish broadcast recorded by the British Broadcasting Corporation said today that "Russian tanks have probed to the outskirts of Berlin".

London, Feb. 8 — (AP)—The Moscow radio said today the "Oder line has been pierced and Berlin in panic is witnessing the crumbling of the last obstacle in its forefield."

A prior broadcast by an American chain commentator said Marshal Stalin's capital was hourly expecting an official announcement that the First White Russian army had smashed across the river in force, "signifying the complete breakdown of the Oder line."

Berlin accounts said the Russians had hammered out seven bridgeheads on the Berlin front, one of them 30 miles northeast of the capital, and a dozen others along 185 miles of the river from Ratibor to Ellesia to Gruenberg, 50 miles southeast of Frankfurt.

The Moscow radio said Heinrich Himmler had massed SS troops in the capital. Roads south and west of Berlin were reported jammed with the traffic of refugees in flight.

Stalin Silent On Oder

While Marshal Stalin had not confirmed the breaking of the Oder line on the Berlin front, soviet advices said Marshal Gregory Zhukov's massed artillery was pounding at the weakest link of the capital's defense, the low wes-

Nazi E-Boat Pens Hit by RAF Planes

London, Feb. 8—(AP)—RAF Lancasters blasted German E-boat shelters at Ijmuiden on the west coast of Holland with 12,000-pound earthquake bombs today, hitting this hideout by daylight for the second time in six days.

Spitfires escorted the bombers across the North sea. No enemy planes were encountered and all the attacking force returned. Britain-based American heavy bombers were not in action today. The Germans reported that Italy-based American heavy bombers had returned to the Vienna area, following up their attack on oil targets there yesterday.

The German radio issued a stream of air raid warnings reporting bombers south of Emden, west of Muenster, over the Nordhausen area, North Friesland,

Jap Demolition Groups Start More Fires in South Part of City

BULLETIN

New York, Feb. 8—NBC correspondent Pat Flaherty broadcast from inside Manila today that "American troops have crossed the Pasig river", which bisects of the city.

"American troops have crossed the Pasig river and the allies are on the march to seal the fate of Jap pockets of resistance", Flaherty said. "The pressure is being applied from the north, east and south.

Manila, Feb. 8—(AP)—The broad Pasig river, its bridges blown up by a desperate foe, was the front line today in the heart of Manila—a heart torn by sporadic house-to-house fighting, exploding shells and great fires set by Japanese suicide squads.

The sprawled and blackened bodies of slain Japanese, among 48,000 enemy casualties so far accounted for on Luzon, dotted scenes of wanton destruction in the liberated sector north of the river. South of it, demolition groups started more fires.

The liberating Yanks, whose Luzon casualties total 7,076, are superior in armored might and have a monopoly in air and naval support but desire to save as much as possible of this pearl of the orient.

Artillery duelled across the Pasig, a river varying from 200 to 300 yards in width. The screaming shells of the Nipponese tore holes in buildings at Santo Tomas university. They wounded soldiers there and also some of the more than 3,000 internees who had undergone three years of imprisonment prior to being reached Saturday night by the first Yanks to enter the city.

Yanks Hold North Side

The First Cavalry and 37th Infantry divisions have won all the city north of Pasig, including the Escolta business district where the enemy devastated a square mile area of office buildings and other non-military structures by firing gasoline drums and touching off explosives.

Japanese still operated in strength south of the river. Some American troops also were on the south bank but the destruction of four big bridges delayed a crossing in strength.

The fate of these Japanese was sealed by the presence of the U. S. 11th Airborne Division below them. These Yanks, five and one half miles south of the Pasig, were held up, however, by a stiff scrap around Nichols Airfield at suburb-

WATER

Flyers and survivors of ship sinkings adrift on the high seas now have three sources from which they can aequre life-saving water. The first and most abundant rainfall. The second is sea water made fit for drinking through the use of a solar-still, which uses the sun's rays as a medium to condense the fresh water from the salt. The third is through the use of a de-salting kit issued to American fighting and sailing men which de-salts the sea water through the use of chemicals.

Harvey A. Wendel, who was a member of a military unit engaged in guarding and transporting prisoners of war at Camp Ruston, Louisiana, returned home last week, honorably discharged from the Eighth Service Command Separation Center at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas. The discharge, which came as a result of a physical ailment which did not respond to treatment, was accepted with much regret after 1½ years in the service. His plans for the future are uncertain at this time, depending on further medical treatment.

Mrs. Raymond Osborne has received word from the war department that her husband is missing in action in Belgium.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mumma received word Wednesday that their son, Wayne, who has been stationed in Germany, has been wounded in action. A letter from Wayne arrived shortly before the message from the war department, so the Mummas believe that his injuries are not serious.

A Thought for Today

For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.—Acts 20:29.

Old Care has a mortgage on every estate,
And that's what you pay for the wealth that you get.
—J. G. Saxe.

Culture by the Yard

The advertisement gave us a bit of a shock. Here was one of the country's leading book dealers, old, respected and highbrow, offering to sell you a library at what might be called space rates.

"Do you have an empty built-in bookshelf" the ad inquired. It went on to explain that "For Decorative purpose and Cultural Background, the rooms most frequented in the well appointed home shelve the tomes of the Giants in Literature." (The capitals, the sense and the general literary style, we'll have you know, are the respected, highbrow book dealer's, not ours.)

The ad offered three selections of Giants in Literature for the home in lots of 100 priced roughly at $200, $500 and $1,000. There was also a selection of 1520 volumes, price not given, but presumably it would knock your hat off.

"Well, we thought, a fine thing when a respected old house badly offers to make you into a phony literate. Has the day come, we asked ourself, when the book must go the way of the piano, which long since in most homes, ceased to be a musical instrument and became a piece of furniture?

And then we got to thinking of the means by which most full bookshelves in our land probably got that way. There were the college textbooks, of course. And the book subscription club selections. And detective novels, the fruit of years of last-minute shopping in stations for something to while away a tedious train journey.

But these only fill a shelf or two. The rest of the books are "sets," the result of visits from hungry, persistent salesmen with their toe in the door and the wiles of the devil on the tip of their tongue. They had a way of making you feel shamefully illiterate, of convincing you that you would have to bear through life the reproachful glances of your children if you didn't buy their history set or lectures or gold-leaf encyclopedia.

And so you paid three prices for the set and got beautifully stung. But you weren't the only sucker in town. The acquisition of literary gems in America became a series of unhappy incidents that happened in the best of families, and which went unmentioned by common, tacit consent.

We suppose that logic and economy are on the book firm's side. Probably you'd get a better bargain. (And what's so awful about buying literature by the yard—didn't Dr. Eliot sell Harvard Classics by the foot?) But still, somehow, the old-time book peddler was a little more flattering.

Fair Enough
by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1945, by King Features Syndicate.)

Now children, if you little bums with your rosy, apple cheeks and the stupid expression on your silly little faces, will hold still a few minutes, we will continue our English lesson.

We are running down the word "curmudgeon" which is what Harold Ickes calls himself in his autobiography and with no dissent from me because it means "an avaricious, churlish fellow; niggard; miser".

We will stir in some ethics and a yolk of civics along with the philology. If you will bear in mind that Ickes personifies the conscience and spirit of the new deal, and has been in the cabinet longer than any other member except Mrs. Perkins, you will grasp the idea that his character suits Roosevelt right down to the ground. He is Roosevelt's kind of fellow. Another day we will take a one-way excursion off on a tangent, exploring the wonderful paradox presented by Roosevelt on Coronation Day when, with our friend, the niggardly old miser standing by churlishly, he scattered a handful of corn to the assembled suckers in his observation that the way to make friends was to be a friend.

No, you may not leave the room.

Let us see what "avaricious; means. "Avail", "Avalanche". Ah, yes, here it is. "Avaricious; actuated by avarice; greedy of gain. Synonyms: rapacious, grasping, sordid. See covetous".

And here is "avarice". It means "excessive or inordinate desire for gain: covetousness, cupidity".

Goodness, we have our work cut out for us, haven't we? But it will be worth while because it will teach us so much about the wonderfully generous and humane spirit of the new deal.

Shall we look up "covetous" next? That sounds kind of bad, doesn't it? Didn't we hear somewhere that "thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife" or his goods? But we must resist the temptation to digress, although our miser did strike it rich when he married the millionaire ex-wife of a neighbor and seems to have coveted the small estate left by Frank Allen, a taxi-man, in very modest circumstances, who died of injuries suffered in a smashup in which the first Mrs. Ickes was killed. Anyway, he sued the taxi man's estate for $7,500 and chased the unfortunate widow of Allen clear up to the Supreme court of the state of New Mexico where he was turned back with a decision that his claim died when Allen died. There were five children in the Allen family and all that was left of his small estate after the litigation with the living spirit of the new deal was $696.

Allen was one of those Americans who Ickes, Henry Wallace and the rest of them would have called the "common man". His widow and the children would be regarded as "little people". This case gives us a real, practical demonstration of that great love of theirs for the common man and the little people.

Incidentally, one of the Allen boys turned out to be a very fine American. He joined up with the British before our country got into the war, flew with the RAF, then joined the American Air Forces, completed his missions in Europe and is now a flying instructor in California. Maybe, if the conscience of the new deal hadn't sued his dead father's estate for more than the total amount that Allen left, this boy would have grown up to be a no-account. Helpful little acts like our avaricious old miser's lawsuit do build character, don't they?

But "covetous, covetous." Yes, here it is. "Very desirous. Inordinately eager to obtain (especially money). Covetous implies especially excessive desire for what belongs to another; avaricious: greed for wealth with a view to hoarding it."

Now "cupidity." It's from the Latin "cupidus," meaning "longing." It says here: "to long for. Eager desire, especially for wealth; avarice."

That "avarice" certainly gives us a lot of mileage, doesn't it?

No, I told you, you may not leave the room. What? You're sick? Well, I can't blame you. I am pretty queasy myself, if you want to know. Go ahead then, if you can't take any more of this beautiful character personifying the great, humane, althuistic, mothering, new deal.

Now to continue. "Lust," meaning money-lust, and "greed" are synonyms. Then it says in the dictionary "cupidity, greed, avidity agree in the idea of inordinate desire. Cupidity applies to covetousness of wealth; greed to insatiate and selfish craving; avidity to eager or ardent relish or appetite."

This becomes a refrain, doesn't it? It reminds you of how they were all standing there waiting for the gravy train back in March, 1933, and Mrs. Roosevelt's uncle, Forbes Morgan, snagged a sinecure as lobbyist for the liquor industry at $100,000 a year as the payoff for the repeal of prohibition, and others lore into insurance, airplane contracts, slot machines, radio broadcasting and literature for the papers and magazines. Reminds you of that great, public spirited gift of the old, outmoded ancestral heap at Hyde Park to the beloved little people of the U. S. A., whereby it came out of the taxable inheritance but with the right of occupancy reserved as long as any of the children shall live.

Well, shall we see what a miser is? Of course, we know Ickes is one because he said so, according to Webster's collegiate dictionary, when he called himself a curmudgeon. We aren't going to doubt his word, are we? Except, perhaps, to think he may have been guilty of under-statement.

"Miser." From the Latin "miser," meaning "wretched." A covetous person, especially one having wealth who lives miserably to increase his hoard."

That doesn't quite fit Ickes, does it? A little tight across the shoulders. He certainly does have wealth and does increase his hoard but nobody can say he lives miserably, what with his suburban place outside Chicago, on a street called "Private Road" and his egg plantation outside Washington which would be an "estate" in the hands of anyone opposed to the new deal, but, in his ownership, is called a farm.

Incidentally, great excitement goes on in Chicago these days against un-American people who fled to the suburbs to escape the decay and squalor of the city and others who take advantage of the taxing system to get their assessments cut. Ickes did both but, being the very model of a public-spirited and forward-looking new dealer, he must have had some fine motive. Maybe he did it just to mingle with the un-American shirkers, get their secrets and turn them in.

Hey, what goes goes on with you little muggs? All of you sick at once? It's an epidemic.

Class dismissed. Gangway; give me air.

Fair Exchange?

The War Department has replied to a complaint of Rep. John E. Anderson of California that American soldiers in France, under present arrangements with the French government, are getting only one-fifth as many francs as their dollars would bring them on the open market.

The Army spokesman told Mr. Anderson that soldiers are receiving full pay in United States dollars "or the equivalent thereof in legal tender, local currency." He also explained the causes of high prices in France. But he did not seem to dispute the congressman's charges.

The question still seems to be whether a soldier, if he got dollars instead of francs from the Army paymaster, could go to a bank and legally get five times as many francs as he is receiving now. If this is so, then surely a new exchange arrangement should be made with the French government.

After all, prices are just as high for the soldier on leave in Paris as they are for the correspondent, the Red Cross worker, or anyone else with dollars in his pocket.

Scientific Heat Wave Wanted

We see where the General Electric people reproduced the equivalent of tropical humidity in their laboratories while experimenting on some insulation. Seems a pity they didn't use the same technique and experiment on the coal shortage.

MARY BRESSON

Funeral services for Mary Bresson were held Monday morning, Feb. 5 from St. Mary's Catholic church at West Brooklyn, the Rev. Fr. James Lafferty, officiating with interment in the West Brooklyn cemetery. The casket bearers were: Howard Bodmer, Elliott Arnould, Ray Maier, Carl Gardner, Julius Delhotal and Isadore Henry.

The deceased was born Oct. 10, 1878 in Viola township, the daughter of Julius and Lucine Bernardin. She was united in marriage to Modest Bresson Sept. 12, 1900. They resided on a farm in Viola township until the death of her husband on Dec. 6, 1907. Since then she lived at the home of her parents until she became ill and was taken to the Rochelle hospital where she passed away seven days later on Feb. 2nd at 1:12 a. m. She had reached the age of 66 years, three months and 22 days. Besides her aged mother, Mrs. Lucine Bernardin she leaves to mourn her passing two sisters, and three brothers, Mrs. Rose Bresson of Compton, Mrs. Emma Vincent of Amboy, John Bernardin of DeKalb and Henry and Emil Bernardin of Compton any many nieces and nephews. Her father preceded her in death 21 years ago.

George Washington vetoed only two bills during his presidency.

A SONG to REMEMBER
by Willard Wiener

Copyright, 1943, Willard Wiener; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: At the age of 10, Frederic Chopin's dexterity at the pianoforte has already made him a person of note in the little Polish village of Zeinzown Wola. Count Skarbek, owner of the village, has requested that he play in a public concert at Warsaw. One day while Frederic is practicing for the great event, Professor Elsner, his teacher, arrives quite out of breath and excitedly waves a letter at Monsieur and Madame Chopin.

III

DISSONANCE

"'MY dear Professor Elsner,'" the recipient of the letter read aloud, pronouncing each word with care. "'Thank you for your letter concerning the exceptional talent of your pupil, Frederic Chopin. If the young pianist should ever find himself in Paris, we shall be pleased to give him a hearing.'"

"—Good, eh?"

Nicolas Chopin and his wife exchanged glances.

"Signed," Jozef Elsner said, "'Respectfully, Henri Dupont, Secretary to Louis Pleyel.'"

He folded the paper. He returned it to his pocket, then took it out only to return it again, but to another pocket.

Nicolas Chopin touched his chin. "Frederic in Paris? Is that what you have in that head of yours?"

"Exactly." And Jozef Elsner tapped his own head. "It's all there."

Nicolas Chopin smiled an unbelieving smile.

"—Yes, indeed," Jozef Elsner said. "How many times I have said it. 'Jozef,' I've said, 'this boy must be heard. The curtains of the world will rise for him. Humph. Where is the world? Warsaw? No. Vienna? No. Paris? Yes, Nicolas. The world is Paris and Paris is the world. And Paris is Pleyel."

Mamma Chopin said: "But Frederic—he is only a child—"

Elsner stopped her. He cleared his throat. "My dear Madame, in Paris, only last month, a pianist made his debut—tch, tch—his name was only now on my tongue. Well, no matter. The point is—ah, his name, I have it—Franz Liszt. But that is not the point, Madame. Forget the name. Only remember this, Madame—his age. Has he reached manhood? No. He is a child. Well, there is nothing wrong with that. That is the way it is done—in Paris!"

"Fritzchen isn't yet 11," Mamma Chopin said.

Monsieur Chopin said: "I do not even think of his age, Jozef."

"Sensible."

"I think only of the money."

"—Money?"

PROFESSOR ELSNER looked into the face of his friend. If he had had the eyes for that sort of thing, which is doubtful, he might have seen in the drawn face of Nicolas Chopin and in the tight little lines about his eyes and mouth the pinched circumstances of the Chopin family. Tutoring boys in French was hardly a lucrative profession.

"Money?" Elsner said.

Mamma Chopin nodded. She had learned of necessity to share her husband's practical outlook. "Only think back," she said. "How long has it been since we have paid you for a lesson?"

"—Tch, tch."

"—And you talk of Paris!"

"Madame, please, I refuse to fill my head with trifles!"

Yet there it was, plain. That is the trouble, always. You have your dream, you carry it in your head for a long time, then suddenly it is knocked out. Jozef Elsner had his dream and he would not have it knocked out so easily.

"I don't say it is Paris tomorrow—or next week. Did I say that? I don't say that at all. I say, let us think about it—plan for it—save for it. That's all I say. Then it will come. You'll see. Your son, my pupil, is waiting to be heard from, and Paris is waiting to hear him. Those are facts! Facts! You want facts! Well, you have them—facts!"

Then he broke off. Nobody said anything. Izabela was tugging at her mother's dress.

A look, nothing short of transport, was now on Jozef Elsner's face, and on the contented faces also of Mamma and Nicolas Chopin, as the strains of Mozart came from the next room. The "wonderful boy" was at it: playing with calm, with brilliance, with ease.

CHORDS! Chords, mad, wild, dissonant! Mozart no longer! Fingers of an angry man—not a child—were now tearing into the keys. What sounds! What awful, fearful, frightening sounds! Pain—agony—sound—sound—building—bursting—louder—louder—louder!

Jozef Elsner, his ashen face hard set, pushed open the door. The chords, almost deafening, leaped screaming as it seemed to escape the pounding of the fingers of the man, no longer a boy, at the instrument. Jozef Elsner had never heard anything like it.

"—Frederic!"

The cry was a whisper that went unheard in the tumult of screaming chords. He shouted the boy's name again.

"—Stop it! Frederic, you'll smash it! You'll smash it!"

The fingers struck—harder—harder. But Frederic's eyes were not on the keyboard: they were fastened on the window, and beyond—yet not on the rain nor at the gray dullness of the open countryside. They were fixed, as Jozef Elsner now saw, on a herd of bearded men, chained one to the other, slogging through the mud, flanked on either side by soldiers of the Russian Czar.

Jozef Elsner's jaw locked.

The fury, the sound, the tumultuous chords! They were the swelling voices of freedom, of liberation! Voices—with power to arouse all Poles against tyrants!

Such slender fingers; how firm they were.

Thunder—thunder—thunder to rend tyrants asunder.

Only exhaustion brought silence.

Miss Nevenhoven, Donald Reed Wed in California

Miss Henrietta Nevenhoven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reko Nevenhoven of Polo, and Donald Eugene Reed, fireman, first class, of the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed of Polo, exchanged nuptial vows in Mountain View, Cal., on Friday, Jan. 26.

The double ring ceremony was read in the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. Albert S. Buell, and Mrs. Buell. Rev. Buell is a great uncle of the bridegroom. The couple chose to be unattended.

The bride wore a light blue wool suit with white accessories, and a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, was her only jewelry.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed accompanied the bride to California and were present for the wedding ceremony. They returned yesterday to Polo with the new Mrs. Reed who will make her home with her parents for the duration. She is a graduate of the Polo high school, class of 1944, and will continue at her position with the Atlantic and Pacific store in Polo.

Mr. Reed, who left high school in his senior year in 1942 to enter the navy, received his boot training at Farragut, Idaho, and was in California last month for a short leave after being on duty in the Pacific for the past one and one-half years.

Fit and Flare Are Style Firsts

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Style is more a matter of how you wear your duds than how much money they set you back. So confides one top-flight model, who proved her theories recently with a few demonstrations.

"This hat," she said, fingering a flip little headpiece, "would look like the song that it cost if I didn't wear it at a dashing angle and didn't do my hair to perfection."

Her frock, she explained as she straightened herself up in a simple black shirtwaist dress, "is a basement bargain, but it doesn't betray its origin because I've fitted it to my figure exactly."

"To put a bag across," she said, swinging hers under her arm with an air, "carry it smartly—not like a parcel that you're trying to hide."

mud have turned the terrain into a nightmare. The flying weather is so vile most of the time that the all-important tactical forces of fighter-bombers are grounded day after day. In short, unless Eisenhower were impelled by some great emergency, one wouldn't expect him to undertake an all-out offensive before the good weather in the spring.

Looking across at the eastern front we see a similar phenomenon. There the Muscovites would, under normal circumstances, have paused when they reached the strong German defenses along the river Oder. The Red forces are entitled to a breather after their terrific race across the snow-bound plains of Poland. Their greatly extended communications surely could do with an overhauling. Now would be a good time to consolidate their positions, and complete ironing out their northern and southern flanks.

But the Red armies are continuing their onslaught all along the line. Already they've established several bridgeheads across the Oder, and have created a special threat to Berlin in the heavily fortified Kuestrin-Frankfurt sector directly east of the capital. There's no sign that they figure on slackening in their fierce drive.

Thus we see both eastern and western allies going against procedure in every-day warfare. They're doing it by agreement. Why?

The answer is that a crucial emergency has arisen. The Hitlerites are showing striking weakness in both theaters. The line of the Oder isn't holding the way we had been led to expect. In the west nazi Marshal Von Rundstedt's badly mauled forces have been so depleted by casualties in the battle of the Belgian bulge that he's giving ground all along the westwall.

From within the Reich come evidences of a great country in desperate circumstances which certainly presage collapse. The capital itself, freely admitting that it shortly will be in enemy hands, is in a state of tattered nerves. The government probably has fled south already. The city is a bomb-shattered grave-yard of nazi hopes.

These signs of impending collapse have created an emergency which calls for exceptional treatment. Thus we find the allies throwing every ounce of pressure possible against the enemy.

This may be the moment for the kill. In any event it's no time to slacken. So the drives go on, and if the Germans continue to show weakness the present allied attacks will swell into the coup de grace.

Should this happen, we shall see Eisenhower's whole front flaming soon. This likely would bring the allied air-borne army into sensational action—if the weather man would be a good sport for once.

Police Break Up Riot After Cage Contest

Peoria, Ill. Feb. 8—(AP)—A parade of nearly 200 teen-age youths, whom police said planned to "avenge beatings" dealt out by students of another high school, was broken up yesterday by a police charge into the march.

Armed in many instances with clubs, hose and metal "gimmicks" cripped in their fists, the demonstrators were mostly students of Peoria Central high school. They paraded toward Woodruff high school to retaliate for "beating" stemming from an inter-school basketball game, police said.

The demonstrators told police that after the game, won by Central 51 to 39, some ill feeling developed and three Central freshmen were beaten by Woodruff students. Two other Central students were beaten later by several youths wearing Woodruff sweaters, who promised they would come to Central yesterday, police declared.

After detaining 35 of the parading youths for questioning, police released them to their parents.

22,028 Workers Placed in 3 Midwest States

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Placement of 22,028 workers moving in from other parts of the country were made in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin under the War Manpower Commission interregional recruitment plan last year, WMC announced today.

Employes hired in the three states were 7.9 per cent of 277,489 placements made for the country as a whole, but the national total was only 75 per cent of the established quota.

The WMC said that of 529,000 workers referred to employer representatives from other regions almost 50 per cent turned down jobs offered or were rejected as unsuitable.

Placements in Region 5, consisting of Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio totaled 14,565 or 5.2 per cent of the national figure.

Charlemagne's empire, fought over by his grandsons, was divided by a treaty at Verdun.

Missouri Votes Down 18-Year-Old Vote Age

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 8—(AP)—With both the Democratic and Republican floor leaders shooting at it, a plan aimed at letting 18-year-old Missourians vote was smothered under a lopsided voice vote in the house of representatives yesterday.

The resolution to submit to the voters a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 was introduced by Rep. R. H. Ridenbour (R), Osage county, who told the house that "persons of 18 are better informed on how to vote than we were when we were 30."

Rep. Roy Hamlin of Marion county, Democratic floor leader, argued school teachers and parents would "greatly influence the vote of these high school kids" and Rep. Randall Kitt of Livingston county, Republican floor leader, declared 18-year-olds are "not mature enough to vote."

Siegfried Line

the river. Ninth Army troops before Dueren are but 20 miles from the river and its greatest city, Cologne.

In southern Alsace, American and French troops stamped out all but a few square miles of the German pocket below Strasbourg. Blodelsheim, nine miles south of Neufbreisach, was reached and six more miles of the left bank of the Rhine was cleared. Some 12,500 Germans have been taken in the pocket.

Westwall Leaking Badly

The hard hit westwall appeared to be leaking badly. It has been run through at three places this week by the First and Third Armies; a 35-mile gap around Aachen was captured last fall.

Although the Siegfried Line was backed up a depth of recently dug earthworks and hastily fortified villages, it seemed highly questionable whether these improvised defenses could be held after the stronger concrete permanent works gave way.

Gen. Eisenhower was turning his offensive on full steam—aimed at least to the Rhine and likely beyond—even as the big three leaders on the Black Sea planned the final strokes of victory and the first moves of peace.

Already Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army Group was on the attack. Field Marshal Montgomery's U. S. 9th and British Second Armies waited for the attack signal on the Roer.

Canadians Make Ready

Continued British air blows in the north today suggested that the Canadian First Army in Holland and Germany might be preparing to spring around the northern end of the Siegfried Line. Kleve and Goch were bombed in great strength last night; the Nijmegen area opposite Kleve was hit by 400 planes flying by instrument in four weather today.

The attacks of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges First Army in the Roer headwaters area and the Third Army in the Eifel mountains gained the proportions of a major offensive.

The First's 78th Lighting Division drove into the anchor bastion of Schmidt, 13 miles inside Germany last night and had virtually cleaned it out by daybreak. Nearby Kommerscheidt was occupied.

Schmidt had been seized by the First Army during the costly Huertgen forest battle last November, but the Germans rewon the town.

Schmidt Costly Prize

In recapturing the village, Hodges' armor and infantry stormed through one of the strongest links of the Siegfried Line. The 78th Division had been fighting on the north and west sides of Schmidt since the night of Jan. 6.

Schmidt is the graveyard of many an American. Just after the Aachen breakthrough last fall, two regiments (perhaps 6,000 men) were almost annihilated when they tried to batter their way past the high ground of the big day last fall.

First Army troops trying to cross the Kall river a mile and a half north of Schmidt still were balked by one of the thickest minefields ever encountered on the western front.

The French First Army, with four American divisions, reduced the cross-Rhine pocket below Strasbourg to less than 35 square miles along the river and east of the Rhine-Rhone canal. Soldiers moved seven miles south of Neuf Brisach. Organized resistance was broken in the Vosges west of Colmar; stragglers were being rounded up and caged.

Nazi Troops Bombed

Overnight, British heavy bombers in great strength attacked enemy troops and equipment at Kleve and Goch where the Siegfried Line peters out in the Reichswald forest.

There was unmistakable evidence of coordination, at last, between the allies in the west and the Russians in the east.

Gen. Eisenhower was increasing his onslaught and feding fresh power to the campaign, aimed not only at the Rhine—but this time beyond.

The Third Army besieging Pruem had widened its gap in the Siegfried Line to seven miles. The rugged terrain and mud bogs, however, seemed to preclude any swift advance. German defenses were not numerically great, but the Germans had plenty of fire power. In addition to the steep, wooded hills and a sketchy road network, two sizable rivers lie ahead.

Italian Campaign

Rome, Feb. 8—(AP)—The offensive of American Fifth Army troops in the mountains southeast of Bologna was stalled today against strongly fortified and heavily defended enemy positions, the allied high command announced.

The Doughboys were halted after forcing their way forward up to 600 yards in two days of bitter fighting in weather conditions made difficult by a sudden thaw in the Apennines mountains.

Attacking troops gained the crest of one ridge but were forced to dig in and were engaged against counter-attacking nazi troops yesterday.

Oder Line

tern bank of the Oder between Kuestrin and Stettin, where it runs northeast of Berlin.

Berlin said one bridgehead was at Goeritz, 5½ miles south of Kuestrin and 41 miles east of Berlin.

The broadcast from Moscow said Himmler had been entrusted with the defense of Berlin and a defense council had been formed in the city.

Gauleiter Paul Joseph Goebbels, originally entrusted with the city's defense, had fled to southern Germany, Moscow declared. The Germans yesterday denied that Goebbels had left.

News Blacked Out

Officially, Moscow blacked out the progress of the fierce battle on the west side of the stream and told only of the liquidation of additional German pockets on the east side of the river.

But Moscow dispatches said Kuestrin, 40 miles east of Berlin and one of the chief fortified areas guarding the capital, was about to fall, with soviet tommy gunners fighting in the streets under cover from artillery batteries stationed only two miles from the northern outskirts.

The soviet communique, telling of 5,000 more nazis killed in a single day on the central Oder front, said the battle had moved into the "fortified forefield of Berlin".

Earlier the Russians had announced that 15,460 Germans were taken prisoner on the eastern front Monday and Tuesday and named eight nazi generals and four top-ranking colonels among them.

The Russian communique, announcing victories northwest of Kuestrin where the low western bank of the Oder offers the least obstacle to the storming of Germany's last neutral defense line in the east, said Alt-Drewitz, northern suburb of Kuestrin had been captured.

Broadening his north-wing threat to Berlin along the Oder, Zhukov seized Zaekerik, 21 miles northwest of Kuestrin on the east bank and only five miles from where the river bends north toward Stettin. Zaekirek is 32 miles northeast of Berlin.

Below Kuestrin and the Warthe river, Zhukov's men captured Kunersdorf, the Russian-German battlefield of 1759 three miles outside of Frankfurt.

Reports later than the Russian communique said the Russians had gone on and fought on into the suburbs of Frankfurt—perhaps the suburb of Dammvorst, just across the river from Frankfurt and connected with the main city by a 900-foot bridge.

Aurith, nine miles below Frankfurt, also fell.

Russians Broaden Base

Obviously, Zhukov was broadening the base of his east bank wedge for an all-out operation against Berlin. He appeared to have almost complete control of the east bank from Fuerstenberg, 47 miles southeast of Berlin, to Znekirek—a stretch of more than 50 miles.

The Germans told of at least seven soviet bridgeheads across this reach of the river, and said heavy artillery moved into one bridgehead between Kuestrin and Frankfurt had the Kuestrin-Berlin railway under fire. Zhukov was moving strong reserves into these bridgeheads despite thaws which were raising the later level, the Germans reported.

Zhukov's right wing, pointed toward Stettin and the Baltic, had sent spearheads into Pyritz, 24 miles southeast of Stettin and Arnswalde, 35 miles southeast of Stettin. The German communique said here were house to house battles in these two places.

The Germans declared that on the whole, however, the soviet advance in this direction had been checked about 65 miles from the Baltic, and that several villages had been recaptured.

Reds Gain in Silesia

In Silesia, the Germans reported further soviet progress from the soviet bridgehead northwest of Breslau at Steinau—which the Russians have not yet claimed although the Germans have announced its abandonment—and at Glogau, 54 miles northwest of Breslau.

South and southeast of Breslau, the Russians announced the capture of more than 50 towns in their drive toward the Sudetenland and Dresden — across the communication lines which the Germans would need for a withdrawal into their Bavarian and Morvaian mountain fortress if their stand in Berlin fails.

Grossburg, on the Breslau-Moravia railway 20 miles north of the old Czechoslovak border, was captured. Several towns four to seven miles northeast of Grottkau on the Breslau-Bratislava line also were captured.

These advances pushed Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army bridgehead about 13 miles beyond the Oder below Brieg, and about the same distance beyond the Oder at Ohlau.

Maerdorf, along the Oder eight miles south of Breslau, also was captured.

Fight Inside Poznan

In the fight for the encircled fortress city of Poznan, where a suicide force of 20,00 Germans has been left, the German high command disclosed that the garrison had been driven into the northern remnants of the Polish city.

In East Prussia, the Russians captured 30 more places and announced the capture of 2,260 more German officers and men, but the Germans said, some advance soviet units had been wiped out north of Konigsberg and 61 amphibious tanks of American manufacture were captured or destroyed.

The Russians said the Germans, counterattacking in East Prussia, were sending packs of dogs with anti-tank mines tied to them against Russian tank formations.

Ten more blocks were captured in the encircled western part of Budapest, but the Russians said one block there was harder to take than 10 blocks of the rest of the city.

Brunswick, Bremen and Hannover as well as over Holland.

Allied warplanes in the Italian theater carried out more than 2,000 sorties against German rail and oil supply hubs yesterday in their most active day recently, but also suffered their largest recent loss —34 planes.

Germany's wireless news service still was chaotic today on the fifth day after the massive air strike at the heart of Berlin by American heavy bombers.

Transmission was delayed in starting from one to three hours and 45 minutes in the home service, DNB's European service and Transocean service.

Manila's Pasig

ban Pasay, near Manila Bay.

Out in the bay, the guardian fortress of Corregidor, which the Japanese are holding to deny American naval entry into the great harbor, was pounded anew by 204 tons of explosives dropped by four-engined Liberators. It was the heaviest blow so far dealt "the rock."

Jungle Fighting on Bataan

Across the bay at Bataan, a grim jungle fight at the peninsula base between 38th Division Yanks and well-concealed Nipponese was reported by Associated Press Correspondent James Hutcheson.

Fires set by the enemy north of the Pasig river Monday night were smouldering but other fires sprang up Wednesday south of the river—that part of Manila best known to tourists. The south sector includes the Manila hotel, the Army and Navy club and the high commissioner's residence.

Enemy shells which cratered the Santo Tomas campus Wednesday during a visit of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, one landing within 100 feet of the five-star general, ripped into the main building after he had left.

Russell Brines, Associated Press war correspondent, once held at Santo Tomas by the enemy, said men, women and children huddled against walls in the rear of buildings.

"Fear was plainly written on the faces of these thin people who prayed that the enemy shell fire would not destroy their freedom," he reported.

Front dispatches told of Japanese suicide units shot down amid the fires they had set. Filipinos said the enemy had drawn up the demolition plans soon after occupying Manila Jan. 2, 1942.

Doughboys Angry

(Arthur Feldman, Blue Network war correspondent, said angry Doughboys were impulsively demanding "Let's burn every Japanese city to the ground" and Filipinos were sobbing apologetically, "we wanted you to see our city and now you cannot see it."

There was marked confusion within the city. Groups of uniformed Filipinos, wearing guerilla arm bands, wandered about. Homeless refugees streamed out of fire-swept sectors.

Todays' communique said the Japanese have been "cleared" from both North Manila and adjacent Quezon City, but field reports indicated some enemy pockets remain north of the Pasig.

In Luzon's Neuva Ecija province, elements of the 32nd Infantry Division have cut the Balete Pass road leading to the Cagayan valley, 24 miles north of San Jose, todays' communique reported. This blocks the escape route for Japanese caught south and east.

The communique did not break down the enemy casualty figure of 48,000 but it listed the American figure as 7,076 as consisting of 1,609 killed, 191 missing and 5,276 wounded.

CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE

(By The Associated Press)

Japan cannot afford to lose the battle of the Philippines and survive as a nation, Domei news agency said in a broadcast today.

"The Luzon battle is fought for very high stakes," it said. "If Japan is to survive and play a leading role in world affairs, she must snatch victory in this war."

"Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita can depend on the navy to protect his flanks and keep him in operational contact with Japanese-held islands to the south, if he plans to retire to the southern part of Luzon island," Domei continued.

"The Japanese withdrawal should be considered a strategic realignment aimed at consolidating foundations of final victory, while the American withdrawal (to Bataan in 1942) was a desperate move to stave off final defeat for a few more days. * * *

"It is sheer nonsense for Americans to talk of having won the battle for the Philippines, or for (Gen. Douglas) MacArthur to be talking of Tokyo as his next goal."

(By The Associated Press)

The puppet Philippine government headed by President Jose Laurel has fled from Manila to northern Luzon, the Japanese Domei news agency said today.

JAPS ACTIVE IN CHINA

Chungking, Feb. 8—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said today that the American success on Luzon island came more swiftly than the Japanese expected and had caused the enemy to accelerate preparations to meet an American landing in China.

The Japanese hope to establish a deep belt in Asia to meet this contingency, the commander of U. S. Army Forces in China told correspondents.

"Everything they do in China is based on strategic defensive considerations", he declared, "but this does not preclude the possibility of limited offensives".

Asked if he envisaged shuttle bombing between the Philippines and China Wedemeyer countered, "the Japanese do".

War Minister Gen. Chen Cheng declared that Chinese newspaper reports the Japanese are withdrawing from central and south China, although merely rumors, cannot be disregarded in the light of the Japanese collapse in the Philippines.

Chinese forces have checked a Japanese drive on Tayu, important Wolfram mining center in southern Kiangsi province, but heavy fighting continues six miles to the south, the Chinese high command announced.

Another enemy column, striking southward from Kanhsien, had forced a crossing of the Kan river two and one-half miles from the city.

At Kanhsien was located one of three air bases east of the enemy's China-Indo-China corridor that the U. S. 14th Air Force has acknowledged evacuating in recent days. The Japanese drive on Tayu was based at Namyung, in northern Kwangtung province, site of another of the lost air bases.

"Big Three" Chart

ton, London and Moscow, said the purpose of the conclave is "to concert plans for completing the defeat of the common enemy and for building, with their allies, firm foundations for a lasting peace."

PLANS EXPECTED SOON

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Big Three plans for joint political action in Europe are expected here within the week.

Calling for active American participation in European settlements, they will mark the beginning of a new period in United States foreign policy.

The plans are being worked out by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin at an historic conference now believed to be at least half-finished somewhere in the Black sea area.

Presumably the meeting is on Russian soil, possibly in the Crimea in order to allow Stalin to continue his close supervision of the Red Army invasion of Germany.

A joint announcement late yesterday, evidently direct from the conference, was released in London and Moscow as well as at the White House. This finally put the open secret of the meeting officially on the record and confirmed the fact that political problems of Europe are a prime concern of the meeting.

Talk in Two Parts

Actually the discussions have fallen into two parts, the military and diplomatic developing along these lines:

1. The military talks led off the meeting and resulted in "complete agreement" for joint Anglo-Soviet-American army operations "in the final phase of the war against nazi Germany". The large military staffs which accompanied the three leaders to the Black sea are now working out detailed plans.

2. As soon as the talk of fighting was completed, Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill took up "problems involved in establishing a secure peace." Under these they listed plans for the occupation and control of Germany, the political and economic problems of liberated Europe and proposals for the earliest possible establishment of a world organization to "maintain peace".

The linking of all these problems was interpreted by officials here as showing a belief of the leaders that the effective control of Gemany and the fair settlement of Europe's many bitter and century-old problems, so far as they can be settled fairly, are equally important with international organization if peace is to be secured.

Meets Tough Issues

The frank listing of political and economic problems as being on the agenda meant that Roosevelt had at last come to grips with some of the toughest issues growing out of the European war.

These are issues of Russian and British security, power of communistic minorities in liberated countries, of Anglo-Soviet conflict of the eastern Mediterranean and of American hopes to see Atlantic Charter principles applied to the freedom-starved peoples of the continent.

It was considered apparent that the troubles of many troubled countries would come up for discussion notably Yugoslavia, Poland, Italy and Greece.

A single paragraph in the official announcement yesterday set the tone for future disclosures by the Big Three.

"Their purpose", it said, "is to concert plans for completing the defeat of the common enemy and for building, with their allies, firm foundations for lasting peace". It was added that "a communique will be issued at the conclusion of the conference".

Throughout the statement ran a tone of confidence. A section dealing with military operations emphasized interchange of "the fullest information" on the European front. Always before United States and Britain have exchanged very full information but there has been little give and take between those two and the Russians.

New Rainbow Div. Proves the Equal of 1918 Outfit

With the 7th Army in Alsace, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Thrown into the line on Christmas day, the men of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division have proved in a month of combat that they are worthy of the honors the outfit won in the First World War when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was its chief of staff.

"They're as good men as their daddies ever were," boasts Brig. Gen. Jenning Linden of Muskogee, Okla., who now holds MacArthur's old job with the division.

Reactivated at Camp Gruber, Okla., on July 14, 1943, during the annual reunion of Rainbow veterans of World War One, the 42nd has all the dash that marked the old Rainbow division. It still uses the distinctive chin-out, heads-up salute which MacArthur taught 28 years ago.

The Rainbow Division made its debut in battle in the present war in the same general sector in which it saw action in the last war. Then it was described as the Luneville-Strasbourg sector.

When the new Rainbow first moved in, they took up positions from Strasbourg to Wissembourg. When American withdrawals were forced by heavy enemy pressure above Hagenau forest, the outfit filled the line from Gambsheim northward. They now have a battle history worthy of the St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and Sedan tradition of their fathers.

Division's Legends

Among the legends which the new Rainbow division may spin are these:

The story of Capt. James Nelson Jean, son of Rev. and Mrs. Oscar Jean of Orleans, Ind., who found himself with three men in a village behind the German lines. The four fell in behind a German patrol and nonchalantly marched to the edge of the village and safety.

Or the yarn of a lieutenant who waded into a canal's swollen waters to help smaller men across, then lay in a foxhole in sub-freezing temperature directing the action. His feet froze and he was able to get about only on his knees.

When U. S. tanks came into the area, the lieutenant, fearing the armored outfits would fire into the zone occupied by his men, crawled to the lead tank and pulled himself to his feet to wrench the machine gun barrel aside as a means of attracting the crew's attention.

Many of the division's new young officers have brothers and sisters in service. James Wallace of Danville, Ill., recently commissioned a lieutenant, has four brothers in the Army and another in the Navy, all overseas.

The division now is commanded by Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins.

Manila Trophy

The Battleship Oregon Commission may, as reported, be preparing to send General MacArthur the American flag that first flew over Manila, on Aug. 13, 1898, but they can't send all of it. That's because John W. Trimmer, Cleveland, O., Spanish War veteran, has the piece he proudly displays in photo above. Though he values it highly as a souvenir of his service in the Philippines, he is more than willing to give it to General MacArthur.

Support

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—The value of newspaper support of the Sixth War Loan is estimated at more than $24,000,000. The November-December drive raised over $21,000,000,000.

Frank E. Tripp, chairman of the Allied Newspaper Council, said the estimate was based on advertising valued at $7,709,603 and news and editorial support placed at $16,879,459.

Tripp emphasized that news and editorial space is not available to advertisers at any price. He added that avalue, computed at newspaper rates, was given "simply to indicate on a dollar basis what newspapers are doing in support of this vital program".

The value of newspaper advertising, exclusive of news support, for the entire war financing program was estimated by Tripp at more than $88,000,000. Of that amount, he said, $34,431,190 was devoted to War Bonds programs last year, compared with $26,051,570 in 1943.

Green Agrees on Boundary Bill

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Governor Green is preparing a "compromise" reapportionment bill and will ask his Republican majorities in the legislature to support it.

"It looks offhand some compromise will be necessary to get passage," he told a news conference late yesterday.

Most legislative observers, however, predict downstate law-makers again will be cool toward any proposals to disturb their present superiority in number over Cook county representatives.

The governor's remapping proposals are being drawn up by Rep. Frederick A. Virkus (R-Chicago) and will be announced in detail later.

Asked for a general outline of how he would change existing congressional and senatorial district boundaries, Green replied he was "still undecided," and was not ready to commit himself.

At present downstate has 15 and Cook county and vicinity have 10 congressional districts. There are 19 Cook county senatorial districts now, compared with 32 embracing the other 101 counties.

The state constitution calls for reapportionment every 10 years to reconcile population shifts, but downstate assembly majorities have blocked all realignment proposals since 1901.

There were 1929 railroad employes killed during 1942-43 as compared to 6618 killed during 1917-18, while 243 railroad passengers were killed during 1942-43 as compared to 374 deaths during 1917-18.

Expect More Trouble in Canada Policy Fight

Quebec, Feb. 8.—(AP)—French-speaking Quebec's jealously guarded provincial rights are likely to provide a main issue for debate in the new session of the provincial legislature which opened yesterday under leadership of the Union Nationale Premier Maurice Duplessis.

The premier, who was voted into office last August on a platform of provincial autonomy and of opposition to the wartime policies of Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King's liberal dominion government in Ottawa, announced in an opening statement of policy that "it is necessary that the province be able to exercise in all their integrity the rights, prerogatives and liberties" recognized by the British North America act, which is Canada's counterpart of the United States constitution.

In addition the government gave notice it intends to introduce legislation dealing with family allowances, which is the subject of a new federal law now being put into effect over Premier Duplessis' protest.

Taylor Denies FDR Will Visit Pope Pius

Rome, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal representative to the Vatican, today denied that he was preparing for a meeting of the president and Pope Pius XII.

A report had been carried by the Rome press and the Swiss radio that Roosevelt expected to visit the Holy See after conclusion of the Big Three conference.

"I don't know of such a visit," said Taylor.

by

C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Central War Time)

New York, Feb. 8—(AP)—Both Manila and Bert Silen, unheard in a direct broadcast to this country since Dec. 30, 1941, have come back on the network air. Radio men said mobile Army equipment probably made possible revival of the short wave link to the United States from within the city.

First Manila was heard from, then in a later broadcast Silen came on to preface his remarks with: "Hello NBC. As I was saying when I was so rudely interrupted three years and a month ago".

Silen, imprisoned by the Japanese at Santo Tomas, was manager of stations KZRH at Manila and KZRC at Cebu and had been broadcasting on the side for NBC up to about the time of the city's capture. He and his newscaster, Don Bell, were freed along with other internees when American forces reentered the capital on Sunday.

The latest Hooper program checkup shows that Bing Crosby had advanced to third place after being fifth. Bob Hope and Fibber McGee with Molly continue in first and second, with Walter Winchell moving up to fourth from seventh and District Attorney dropping to fifth. War Vets Passing Up Education for Unemployment Pay

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP) — War veterans are taking unemployment pay from Uncle Sam faster than they're taking his education-for-free.

The disabled veterans seem slowest of all to dip into the basket.

More than 1,500,000 veterans have been discharged from the armed forces. And this is the story told by the Veterans Administration (VA) which hands out the money.

Only 12,589 are back in school—ranging from grammar school to college—at government expense although 30,000 have applied.

Only 9,359 disabled veterans — from the 46,120 listed as eligible in the VA files—are taking advantage of the government's rehabilitation program.

Veterans taking unemployment pay range from 4 or 5 in states like Nebraska and North Dakota to thousands in the big centers of population like New York, Pennsylvania and California.

To file a claim for unemployment pay a veteran must be unemployed, or making less than $23 a week if partly employed; he must register; continue to report to the unemployment office; and be able to work and be available for suitable work.

The pay is a maximum of $20 a week. He gets four weeks allowance for each month of service up to 52 weeks.

Only 386 of the 12,589 veterans who have gone back to school are in schools below the college level. The U. S. Office of Education figures that 90 per cent (297) of those 386 are in high school.

Veterans who go to school at government expense can get up to 4 years' free education and draw $50 monthly if single and $75 monthly if they have dependents.

Great numbers of those released from service so far have been over 38 or in the over-college age.

One explanation given by the VA for the comparatively small number who have gone in for free education is: Jobs are plentiful and there's money to be made. All veterans have until two years after the war is officially declared over to go to school.

Methodist Drive Is Nearing Goal

According to the pastor, Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield, the Dixon Methodist church has already raised $3200 of its $3800 goal for the denomination's emergency fund for relief and rehabilitation work, made imperative as a result of the war. It is fully expected that within the next few days the total amount will have been raised for this worthy cause and the Dixon church will join the ranks of other Methodist churches in the district that are over the top with funds raised for this humanitarian work.

Dr. Blewfield says that this money will be used to care, for men, women, and especially children, many if not most of them members of Christian churches, in various parts of Europe, in China, Malaya, Korea, India, Burma, and the Philippine Islands. These people now find themselves without homes, without lands, without occupations, without tools or seeds for the spring plantings, and without churches, schools, hospitals and any form of social service. Those who have been members of the Methodist churches overseas and many others will be aided as far as possible by missionaries and their national associates, using funds of the Crusade for Christ in most instances.

According to the plan as outlined by the local pastor, the Crusade money will be used to meet human need first and foremost. The help given will be of a nature that will encourage the recipients to help themselves.

All members and friends of the local Methodist church who have not as yet contributed to this fund are asked to do so by next Sunday, February 11th.

Truck Tramples Man Reclining on Pavement

Thayer, Mo., Feb. 8—(AP) — The body of a man tentatively identified as Harry Lee Greeley, 60, of Boswell, Ind., was being held here today after being run over by a truck on the highway between Thayer and Mammoth Springs.

Ray Hall of Doniphan, saw the man lying on the pavement and stopped the investigate when another truck came around the curve and ran over the man before the vehicle could be stopped.

Prosecuting Attorney Ray Gulledge said it is uncertain whether injuries received when the truck ran over Greeley caused his death or whether he had previously been struck by some vehicle.

Farm Machinery Plants May Exceed Quotas

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Farm machinery plants that are not running at full capacity and have manpower available will be allowed to produce more than their WPB quotas in lagging items.

A War Production Board announcement today said the action will not result in an expansion of the overall production program for the year ending June 30, since approval for extra production will be given only for items running behind approved schedules.

Applications to exceed quotas must be filed with WPB field officers.

Krug Backs Manpower Legislation in Senate

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—WPB Chairman J. A. Krug said today voluntary manpower placement "worked amazingly well" in the early stages of the war but is not sufficient now.

"Under existing conditions war production already is suffering badly from lack of labor," the War Production Board head told the senate military committee considering the work-or-jail legislation.

"Without legislation we can be quite certain that as each week passes more and more war production will be lost for lack of sufficient workers," Krug said.

Placing the present need for workers in "must" plants at "somewhere between 250,000 and 300,000 today," Krug added that such plants represent only about one-fourth of the nations war industries and war supporting activities.

RUSHVILLE HOTEL BURNS

Rushville, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Immediate reconstruction of the Schuyler hotel, destroyed by fire Tuesday, depended today on the granting of priorities. Mrs. Antonie Koch, owner, said she would rebuild provided materials can be secured.

Loss to the hotel, the only one in Rushville, was estimated at $60,000 and damage to four adjacent stores was placed at an additional $55,000.

Leaves from an AP War Correspondent's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

In Germany, Jan. 30—(Delayed)—(AP)—Getting yourself shot up on a battlefield isn't the usual remedy for a speech affliction—but one Missouri sergeant's lisping and baldness were cured through combat wounds.

He was getting on in years and all his life had been troubled by a speech impediment. During the D-Day landings in Normandy he was struck by a piece of shrapnel that gouged out a chunk of his jaw. When the injury healed and they took away the bandages, the sergeant was astonished and delighted to find that he could, for the first time, speak normally.

Two months later he was driving along the front and his jeep struck an enemy mine. He was thrown out and suffered a severe scalp wound. At a hospital an orderly shaved his head so that doctors could sew up the gash.

When the wound healed and his hair grew back it sprouted evenly and luxuriantly.

"But it probably never will be a popular treatment for falling hair," said one medic.

The weather is the chief reason why both the nazis and Americans fight so bitterly now to hold or gain small villages of little military importance.

"They're the only places you can get warm and stay warm," explain the Doughboys.

Even after their main forces are ejected from villages many Germans hide in cellars to give themselves up later, preferring the warmth of a prison camp to getting trenchfoot for der fuehrer.

Peter J. Carroll, Associated Press war photographer, is a practical man. Film star Marlene Dietrich, on a USO tour, offered him her "scanties" as a souvenir.

"No, thanks, but I sure could use that pilot's cap you're wearing—it's more practical," said Pete.

Marlene doffed the cap—a leather one with fleece lining and ear flaps—and tossed it to the photographer.

"You may be practical, but you sure ain't much of a gentleman," one of his press confreres told Carroll. "To pass up Marlene's scanties for an old air force cap—boy, you're crazy."

"I've got a cute little wife back in Boston who won't think I'm so crazy," answered Pete.

Myers Royal Blue Hold First in Classic; Sunnybrook Takes Over Second. Choppy Rosbrook High for the Night with 627. In Freeman Girls League Sharpshooters Roll Into a Tie for First. Millie Wyckoff Sets New League Record with 240-560.

In the Classic league last night Myers Royal Blue held onto their one-game lead by winning two from Harmon. The Grocers now have 39 wins and 21 losses, with Harmon dropping into third with 37-23. Floyd Smith was high for the Royal Blue with 557 and Peach led Harmon with 522.

Sunnybrook took lone possession of second with 38-22, by winning two from the Stables, dropping the latter into a tie with Boynton-Richards at 33-27. John Smith led Sunnybrook with 561 and Al Vorhis topped the Stables with 495.

Nachusa rolled into sixth with 32-28, by winning two from Boynton-Richards. George Weigle's 532 topped Nachusa and Bill Austin led the Clothiers with 559.

Hill Bros. took over seventh, 31-29, by winning all three from the Hunter Co. Choppy Rosbrook's 627 was high for the Grocers and Mert Ransom topped the Lumbermen with 508.

Dixon Cut Sole won two from H.A. Roe Co., dropping the Harcos into a tie with United Cigars and James Billiards for eight with 30-30. Nelson's 516 topped the Shoemen with 546 and Bob Harridge led Roe's with 518.

To gain their share of the tie for eighth United Cigar won two from Shell Service with Hermie Koehler's 579 high for the Loftus Lads and Horace Hartman topping the Oilmen with 481.

James Billiards rolled into the eighth place tie by winning all three from Reynolds Wire. Les Brotherton topped the James Boys with 555 and Flash Fordham led the Wiremen with 579.

Potts Market won two from the Chauffeurs Local with Dale Senneff leading the Butchers with 576 and Frank Lessner's 515 high for the Chauffeurs.

Choppy Rosbrook had the high series of the night with 627 and high games were Duffy 211, Brotherton 201, Becker 203, Fordham 232, J. Bill Edwards, who bowls in the Classic league, got into an argument with Harold Heckscher about their bowling with the result that they made an agreement that the low score between Bill's Wednesday night total and Harold's Commercial league series would pay for the other kegler's bowling each week for the remainder of the season. The first set last week turned out with Bill rolling 435 and Harold following it up Thursday with 436, but this week Bill upped his figure a little to 440, so Harold will have to be on the beam tonight . . . Andy Tilton really had a soft spot for an anchor man last night with all the other four keglers rolling well over "500" Andy was able to just coast along with 442 . . . A match game between Ed Pipers Commercial league team and Earl James' Classic five is all arranged and just awaiting a convenient night, the stakes being dinner' etc., at the Town House for the two fives and their sponsors.

Dukes Play Midgets in Regional

It'll be Dixon vs. Milledgeville when the second game of the Sterling regional tourney gets under way Feb. 27.

That's the setup announced by the Illinois High School Association for the meet to be staged at the Coliseum.

The opening contest of the tournament pairs Sterling and Prophetstown. The Dixon-Milledgeville encounter follows and Rock Falls plays Sterling Community and Amboy the winner of the Franklin Grove district to wind up first round firing.

Rockets in Lower Bracket

Thus the Golden Warriors and Dixon are ticketed to meet in the semi-finals. Rock Falls is in the lower bracket and probably will face Amboy in the other semi.

Seven clubs are lined up for the Franklin Grove district meet at Kersten gym. The Grovers draw a bye while Lee faces Harmon, Steward battles Compton and Lee Center collides with West Brooklyn.

If Lee gets past Harmon, the decisive scrap of the three day round-robin which opens Feb. 20, is likely to occur the following night. Franklin Grove, paced by Center Chet Dierdorff, has compiled an outstanding record while Lee boasts one of the highest scoring outfits in this area.

Eight Fives at Oregon

Eight prime quintets are set for the Oregon regional. Game No. 1 pits Rochelle, Rock River Conference kingpin, opposite the Ashton Aces. Polo vs. Forreston completes the upper bracket with Oregon meeting Mt. Morris and Byron, Route 72 hotshot, and Leaf River scrappin' in the lower bracket. All indications point to a Rochelle-Byron windup, which would stack up as a whale of a game.

DUCATS ON SALE

Tickets for the Sterling regional, to be staged Feb. 27-March 2 at the Coliseum, are now on sale at the Sterling high school. Dixon fans are urged to apply in advance at the local school for the coveted ducats. Only a limited number will be available for Duke followers.

At Princeton, LaSalle-Peru plays Mendota, St. Bede opposes Walnut, Hall and Princeton are paired and DePue takes a crack at the LaMoille district champ. Outfits entered at LaMoille include Ohio, Tiskilwa, Manlius, Malden and Wyanet.

Barbs Meet Maple Park

The DeKalb tournament presents DeKalb vs. Maple Park, Shabbona vs. Marengo, Sycamore vs. Hampshire, and Genoa vs. the Waterman district titlist.

Morrison, who plays Hanover, is the outstanding five scheduled to compete in the Mt. Carroll runoff. Savanna also tackles East Dubuque, Fulton plays Lanark and Mt. Carroll faces the winner of the Shannon district.

East Rockford has been seeded No. 1 in its tourney, West Rockford and Belvidere are expected to show opposition. Aurora Marmion, which has Bob Hess of Dixon as a regular guard, plays East Aurora in the first lower bracket tussle at West Aurora.

Sterling vs. Rock Falls; Two Other Crucial Tilts

A trio of crucial scraps highlight NCIC play tomorrow evening, while two other conference races may be decided.

The first key encounter pits Dixon opposite DeKalb's Orange and Black. A Duke victory could shakeup the standings and knock the Barbs from their perch atop second place.

Meanwhile, Sterling will be facing Rock Falls. The Golden Warriors hold third with a 5-2 slate. Rock Falls has yet to be defeated after six straight victories. However, Sterling licked 'em decisively in a non-league affair, and expects to repeat the win against a riddled Green and White squad.

Buccaneers Meet Redmen

Still another important struggle will take place at Ottawa where the fourth-place Pirates engage Hall Township. Any combination of upsets could tear the race apart, leaving the field open for a darkhorse to slip home during the final two weeks' play.

ROCK RIVER RATINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Rochelle	8	0	1.000
Morrison	7	1	.875
Oregon	6	3	.667
Polo	4	4	.500
Amboy	4	5	.444
Mt. Carroll	1	8	.112
Mt. Morris	0	9	.000

Byron, thundering along the Route 72 trail with 11 consecutive triumphs and a 2½ game bulge over Ashton, gets a chance to ice the flag against the Aces. With three tilts remaining, the Yoemen are expected to win the loop flag handily and may finish undefeated.

Rochelle could also assure itself of a league crown by knocking off Oregon in Rock River competition. The Hubs have won eight straight while Oregon stands third on six triumphs and three reverses.

Mallets Play Mt. Morris

Morrison (7-1) who plays Mt. Morris (0-9), is a darkhorse, however. The Mallets are within breathing distance of Rochelle after nabbing seven of eight contests. The other loop attraction presents Polo (4-4) at Amboy (4-5).

Saturday games are Shabbona vs. DeKalb, Genesco at East Moline, Morrison vs. Princeton and Harlem of Rockford at Rochelle.

OTHER TOP GAMES

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—An intersectional clash between Pinckneyville and Staunton shares prep basketball attention this week-end with renewal of the traditional Galesburg-Moline and Morton-Evanston rivalries.

Staunton (won 17, lost 3) has sailed along comparatively unheralded. It now holds a nine-game streak that has made it the most reliable performer in the south central area. If the Bulldogs Saturday rap seventh-rated Pinckneyville (20-1), they'll be knocking at the gates of the top 15 group.

Pinckneyville plays Anna-Jonesboro (17-6) tomorrow.

Moline in Glory Bid

An opportunity to enhance its bid for state-wide recognition also awaits Moline, which has barely missed the elite group in recent weeks. The Plows (10-4) are confronted tomorrow by Galesburg's formidable Streaks, who are ranked fourth with 13 wins and two losses.

Morton of Cicero (13-4) tomorrow faces a hardy suburban league challenger and seeks to repeat an earlier victory to bolster its No. 8 rating. All of Evanston's four losses in nine games were by close scores.

Decatur's No. 1 Reds (26-1) don't expect Springfield (8-7) to stop them from clinching the Big 12 Conference flag.

Champaign (20-1) opposes an outclassed Gibson City team tonight before its Saturday meeting with Danville (12-5), a comparatively tough foe but previously defeated by the state's No. 2 club.

Taylorville Plays Two

Taylorville (21-1) bumps into Canton (10-10) and Charleston (8-10) on successive nights. Dolph Stanley's defending state champions probably will chalk up new successes without much trouble. They are sixth in the poll.

West Frankfort (22-1) dropped to ninth last week but might move up by winning a third time from Marion (19-6), a team which has repulsed such southern giants as Alton and Centralia. On Saturday West Frankfort entertains Paducah, Ky., a 41-29 loser when they met Jan. 12.

Riverside (15-3) opposes York of Elmhurst (2-9) Saturday. Waukegan (11-3) plays Oak Park (6-7) and Highland Park, Riverside and Waukegan will be trying to repeat earlier triumphs.

CHICAGO RELAYS MARCH 17; GIL DODDS, YOUNG INVITED

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—The ninth renewal of the Chicago Relays will be staged at Chicago stadium Saturday night, March 17, the Chicago Daily News, sponsor the event, announced today.

Invitations were mailed today to Gil Dodds, who has interrupted his running career to reach on the coast, and officials said they hoped the Boston Theological graduate would make a farewell appearance on the stadium boards. Dodds set his world indoor mile record in winning the Banker's mile at last year's relays.

Other invitations went to Claude (Buddy) Young, winner of last year's sprint series who is now stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, and to Michigan university's twin milers, Bob and Ross Hume.

SNEAD CHOICE TO NAB NEW ORLEANS OPEN TITLE

New Orleans, Feb. 8—(AP)—New Orleans amateurs teamed up with the touring golf professionals today in a prelude to the $5,000 New Orleans Open which begins tomorrow.

In the tournament proper, Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., pro, was placed among the favorites because of his seven-under-par 64 practice round yesterday.

The sharp-shooting Snead holed out 13 one-putt greens and 23 putts in 18 holes. After sinking them anywhere from a foot to 40 feet he muffed a two-footer on the last hole.

Showing up well in practice rounds was P. G. A. Champion Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who received the permission of his draft board to take his pre-induction physical here Monday.

GAME FACTS

Place—DeKalb high school gym.

Time — Preliminary game 7 o'clock, varsity game at 8:15 Friday night.

Coaches — L. E. Sharpe (Dixon), George Dertinger (DeKalb).

Event—Official NCIC contest.

DeKalb, a long-time power in North Central Illinois Conference circles, has finally come into its own this war year.

In past seasons the Barbs generally wound up second or third in the football and basketball scrambles as Dixon or Sterling nabbed the swag.

This fall they copped the pigskin bobble in a walk-away. And not content with grid honors, they're in the thick of the scrap for the loop's cage crown.

Barbs Could Tie Rockets

If DeKalb manages a win tomorrow and Sterling knocks off Rock Falls, the two will be deadlocked for first. And the race could conceivably wind up that way.

There's only one flaw—Dixon. Yep, the Barbs hafta whip Dixon to keep their title aspirations flaming.

And that could turn out to be a very tough proposition. It's not just another game to the Purple and White, a fill-in until the regional opens, it's a full-sized challenge. In short, here's the reasons why:

Five Dixon Aims

1. The Sharpeshooters are battlin' to improve their 4-8 mark.

2. They'd like to avenge that 43-31 loss meted out by DeKalb here Jan. 5.

3. A victory over Coach George Dertinger's basketeers will aid Dixon's conference slate of three wins in seven contests.

4. It also would erase some of the sting of a football triumph carved out by these same Orange and Black shirted boys last fall.

5. Dixon's tourney stock will improve considerably with a win.

The beauty of it is a triumph for the locals is more than likely, based on recent performances.

Hubs Outscore DeKalb

True, Sterling did pin our ears back. But we bounced back the following night to trounce Hall. Meanwhile, the Barbs were havin' a rough time, conquering the Redmen by six points and then droppin' a 37-26 decision to Rochelle, a team they'd beaten once before.

Sterling also walloped DeKalb, so that's no mar on the Dukes' record. Add to this combination the fact that George Acker has improved the local offense 100 per cent while the Barbs have remained almost stationary and ya can see why a Dixon win isn't improbable.

DeKalb Court "Lucky"

There's another little item in Dixon's favor, too. It's the DeKalb floor, a misplaced affair on what normally is the high school auditorium stage. Coach Sharpe tells us it's been a rather "lucky" court in times gone by. We've won there every season since '37, Sharpe recalls.

The Dukes' regular quintet—Fred Meinke, George Acker, Don Thoms, Jack Vaile and Johnny Sloan—will be entrusted to see that the performance is continued.

Five guys named Milburne Kensinger, Matt Pesut, Don Wooters, Gene Stockstill and Pete Pecelj are vowin' the mark will crumble to pieces come 8:15 tomorrow.

We'll wait and see!

Shoot For No. 5

The prelim finds the junior Dukes shootin' for their fifth victory of the campaign and their third in succession.

Coach C. R. Lindell's battlers, captured both weekend games, 20-17 over Sterling and 23-19 over Hall, to enhance their prospects of finishin' up with a bang.

However, if the streak is to continue they'll hafta dig up ways to stop the Orange and Black underclassmen, who beat 'em 30-23 in the two teams' first get-together.

No changes are contemplated in the Dixon lineup, Mike McDonald and Don Russell stickin' as forwards, Bryan Cannon retaining his pivot position and Guards Carroll Schumacher and Jim Landis set to open again.

Incidentally, DeKalb's frosh-soph dropped two tilts over the weekend, 26-8 to Hall, an outfit Dixon edged the following evening, and 25-20 to Rochelle.

NCIC OUTLOOK:

Predictin' the NCIC champ is nigh impossible. It isn't as if we hadn't spent a great deal of time pouring over records, standings, etc., we have. And it jus' becomes more impossible!

Up to a few weeks ago we figured Rock Falls a leadpipe cinch. It may not be that easy now. The Green and White are almost sure to be whipped by Sterling tomorrow and if DeKalb manages to squash Dixon the two fives will be deadlocked with 6-1 slates.

Two nights remain on the docket—Feb. 16 and 23. Rock Falls plays Princeton the 16th in their finale. DeKalb winds up against Sterling, a team that's already beaten 'em, and Ottawa, the No. 4 club.

Sterling, with an outside chance of tieing for the loot, finishes up at Hall.

Princeton isn't likely to upset the Rockets. Thus what could be the deciding game will be played by Sterling and DeKalb a week from tomorrow night at Barbtown.

After wading through the crop of conjectures it appears the Rocks will nab the swag. But don't sell any outfit short until all returns are in.

CUE CHALK:

There's quite a three-cushion billiards tourney underway at "Red" Valle's this week. It's a handicap affair with most all the city's top-notchers in the entry list.

Heinz copped the opening battle, 25-23, over Ray Lind. Others on the entry list are George Bishop, Ed James, George Crawford, Melvin Sweeney, Lloyd Scrivens and Hermie Koehler.

BIG EIGHT RACE:

The neighborin' Big Eight is stagin' one of its customary tight races, with some of the state's top-ranked outfits fightin' tooth and nail for the coveted championship.

Elgin's Maroons, rated No. 5 in the latest AP poll of sports editors, paces the loop on six victories and a single loss. East Rockford's Rabs, early-season sensation and current No. 3 club in Illinois prep circles, ranks second along with Joliet on a 5-2 mark. Joliet is 17th in the poll.

Twenty-second place West Rockford holds the Big Eight's No. 4 spot on four triumphs and three defeats. Freeport's Pretzels, given 19th position in the balloting, is tied for fifth with LaSalle-Peru's Cavaliers.

A combination of an Elgin victory over LaSalle-Peru and a West Aurora defeat of East Rockford this week will assure the Maroons the title. Other weekend encounters match Joliet and West Rockford and East Aurora and Freeport.

REGIONAL DOPE:

Two weeks from next Tuesday the Sterling regional opens at the coliseum. Dixon plays a strange foe—Milledgeville—while the Golden Warriors open against Prophetstown's tall quintet.

Both outfits are expected to hurdle these obstacles in fine style. And that would pair the arch rivals in a third meeting as one of the semi-final contests.

Quizzed on the subject, Coach L. E. Sharpe, triggerman of the Sharpeshooters, admitted it was jus' as well. "That way we'll have it over with," he philosophized. The winner probably will face Rock Falls in the regional finals.

CHICAGO THINCLADS TO RACE AGAIN THIS YEAR

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—The University of Chicago, which has not competed in Western Conference athletics since de-emphasizing sports several years ago, will return to competition in track only this season and will hold its first "tune-up" meet Saturday against Wayne university of Detroit. The Maroons have only about 15 squad members, most of them freshmen.

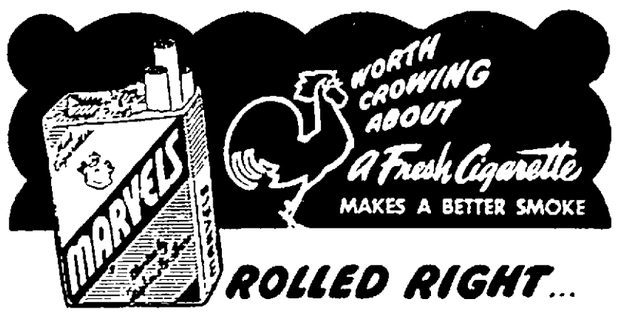
REDS VS. MAROONS?

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Decatur and Champaign, the two leading aspirants for the 1945 Illinois high school basketball tournament championship, may land in opposite brackets in the 16-team finals March 15-17.

The possibility of a third meeting between the two standouts beaten only by each other, was shown in pairings announced today by the Illinois High School Association.

ANTI-G SUIT

A new anti-G suit, which helps prevent a pilot from dimming out or blacking out during aerial maneuvers, has been developed. Equalizing pressure for the suit, which weighs only two pounds, is supplied by air bladders inflated by compressed air from the plane's vacuum pump.



Fully Aged

Of course Silver Fox De Luxe is expertly brewed from the choicest grains and hops. But the real secret of its rare flavor and robust goodness is ageing—long, thorough ageing! What a wonderful difference that makes! Peter Fox Brewing Co., Chicago.

DPC Auctioneer Defends Friends Who Boosted Him

Washington, Feb. 8—AP)—Jaceb Goldberg, in a vigorous defense of his auction sales for the government, praised the men whose letters opened Washington doors to him.

The heavy-set, middle-aged auctioneer whose work for the Defense Plant Corporation has been under congressional scrutiny for several weeks, testified he lost $4,000 under his contract.

As for letters Herbert Bayard Swope wrote Jesse H. Jones, former commerce secretary, and others commending him as a liquidator, after Clarence Woolley, former chairman of the American Radiator Company, wrote Swope in similar vein, Goldberg declared:

"Letters of introduction from persons of unquestioned integrity are an accepted method of first contact in both government and private business, in the interest of saving both time and money.

Proud Of Trust

"Let me state here once and for all that I am proud of Swope's confidence and trust, and that he had no interest whatever in my company or in any of its transactions. The same applies to Clarence Woolley."

Swope, former chairman of the New York State Racing Commission, is the father of Jane Swope Brandt, whose husband, Robert, is the son of Herman Brandt, secretary of Golberg's firm.

Goldberg's turn o nthe witness stand fell on the very day after his work for the Defense Plant Corporation was condemned by the man who got him his contract.

After viewing the auction sale of Goldberg's Surplus Liquidators, Inc., at Burlington, N. J., another sale went off at Maspeth, (N. Y.) Walter E. Joyce, DPC president concluded:

"I don't think Goldberg is a first-class auctioneer. He is not properly organized and gets into arguments with bidders."

Children Under 20 Form Syphilis Pool

Chicago, Feb. 8 - (AP)—Proposing realistic sex instruction for American youth, Dr. Bertha M. Shafer, executive director of the Illinois Social Hygiene, says an infection pool of children under 20 is the nation's most dangerous source of syphilis.

Dr. Shafer told the American Social Hygiene Association yesterday that 15,000 cases of syphilis in children under 15 were reported to health departments during 1944. Many other cases must be presumed to have been concealed through ignorance, she added.

Prostitutes are "masquerading as pickup girls" and all pickup girls today are children, said Dr. Shafer.

Army Revokes GI's Death Sentence

Camp Roberts, Calif., Feb. 8—(AP)—Pvt. Henry Weber was out of the shadow of the gallows today, his death sentence changed to life imprisonment, his wife continuing her fight for him.

The 27-year-old soldier, a shipyard foreman at Vancouver, Wash., before being drafted, was sentenced by court martial to hang for refusing to drill.

Yesterday, by direction of the commanding general of the camp, the court martial reconvened, revoked the death sentence, sentenced Weber to life imprisonment at hard labor, gave him a dishonorable discharge, and ordered his pay forfeited.

In Portland, Oregon, his wife conferred with an American civil liberties official. She declared life imprisonment for her husband is "still outrageous."

"I am more determined than ever," she said, "in fighting for justice for my husband." She said her understanding of conscientious objector is that it can refer to "any person whose deep personal convictions, either religious or political, are opposed to taking human life.

"Other patriotic Americans are still in uniform and not bearing arms. Henry has insisted all along that he would not kill anyone."

Royalty Takes the Stage in England

10 GI's Imprisoned in Black Market Trials

Paris, Feb. 8 —(AP)—General courts martial trying railway battalion cases sentenced 10 more enlisted men today to prison terms ranging from three to 10 years after all had pleaded guilty to charges of wrongfully taking or disposing of Army supplies.

Only 23 enlisted men still remain to be tried in the present series of train looting black market cases, and there is a possibility that charges against some of these will be dismissed.

For example, one man cited for bravery in saving a supply train may be given the benefit of doubts concerning the adequacy of evidence against him. A psychiatrist's report may eliminate another and there is a question of adequacy of evidence in still other cases.

There still are four or five officers to be tried, however, and it is doubtful whether the trials can be finished by the end of next week.

Seven men who pleaded guilty to a charge of wrongfully disposing of cigarette rations from Army supply trains were sentenced yesterday to prison terms ranging from three to eight years.

Elks Vote Aid for Ex-Jap Prisoners

The War Commission of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks today appropriated $100,000 for the assistance and relief of the recently liberated internees of Manila, according to an announcement by Attorney Henry C. Warner of this city, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks. Warner is a member of the commission and states that the funds taken from the fraternal order's war chest, which is voluntarily supported by the 650,000 Elks of the country, will be used to purchase medicine, food and clothing for the ex-prisoners of the Japs and to otherwise aid them in re-establishing themselves.

Prior to the Japanese occupation, Manila lodge of Elks had a membership of 489 citizens. A large percentage of these men were captured and interned in Santo Tomas prison and are among those liberated by General MacArthur's troops. Efforts are now being made to contact these former Elks so that needed assistance may be rendered and the appropriated funds properly administered.

Five Senators Probe Pullman "Scalping"

Chicago, Feb 8—(AP)—A five-man committee, composed of four state senators from Chicago and another from downstate, began preparations today for an investigation of alleged "scalper practices" by which Chicago operators were reported to be collecting up to $50 extra for pullman reservatioins.

On the heels of a senate resolution of yesterday which charged pullman space had been hoarded and reservation frozen, Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross appointed a committee consisting of Senators Bidwill, Libonati, Wimbish and Knox of Chicago and Thompson of Galesburg. Bidwill was named chairman.

The resolution, introduced by Libonati, said the "extra" rates were $5 for an upper berth, $10 for a lower, $25 for a roomette and $50 for a drawing room.

H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger Association here, said that when the FBI and two detective agencies had checked for irregularities, investigators had failed "to turn up any black market."

George King New Insurance Prexy

The Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Bradford township, Lee county, held its annual meeting at district 90 school house on Tuesday. Secretary O. S. Baylor read the report for the past year showing an increase of $533,000. The company now has $10,397,977 in force. There was one assessment of 15 cents per $100. The cost per $1,000 for the past five years has been seven dollars or $1.40 per year.

John Hillison, who has served as manager for the past 25 years, expressed his desire to retire and George King of Lee Center was elected to succeed him. O. S. Baylor was elected to succeed himself as secretary. After the meeting the board of managers organized as follows:

William H. Brucker, Mendota, president; Clarence Hart, Ashton, vice president; O. S. Baylor, Lee Center, secretary; V. S. Pomeroy, Bradford township, treasurer; Henry Roemmich, Sublette; Harvey O. Risetter, Lee, and George King, Lee Center, auditing committee.

After the meeting a resolution was offered, extending to retiring Manager Hillison a vote of thanks for the faithful performance of his duties over a long period of years. A resolution in memory of the late E. A. Pomeroy, who passed away recently and had served as a member of the board of managers for a period of about 25 years, was adopted.

Rev. Martin Explains WCTU Work in Capital

The Rev. A. I. Martin of the First Christian church in an address to the members of the Dixon W.C.T.U. at his church Tuesday afternoon, explained the procedure of the Union's legislative work in Washington under the director, Elizabeth Smart, and talked of several bills now before congress. At the meeting a good offering was collected to be used in the Lillian Stevens Education and the Frances Willard Memorial funds.

Entertained At Banquet

The girls of the Home Ec. classes of the Paw Pay Community High school, entertained the members of the high school board and their wives, and the high school faculty at a banquet supper held at the school auditorium Wednesday evening. The tables were beautifully and artistically decorated for the occasion, with yellow and white being used as the color scheme throughout. In the center of the table was a bowl of yellow flowers, and white and yellow lighted candles were placed at each end of the table, and this was the only light for the event. At 6:30 o'clock the most delicious banquet supper was served, and the menu was as follows: fruit cocktail and wafers, mashed potatoes and gravy, sirloin steak, sweet corn, stewed tomatoes, gelatin salad, frozen dessert, hot rolls, celery, olives, pickles, pie and coffee. The following girls were called upon to serve: Carol Jean Rosenkraus, Patsy Lutz, Lucille Miller, Irma Jean Northcutt, Kathleen Rafferty, Doris Spears, and Violet Hoelzer. This was an annual event and one that is always looked forward to by the board members and the faculty. This was one of the nicest banquet suppers ever held, and much credit should be given to the Home Ec. advisor, Miss Louise Peach. It was truly an evening that will long be remembered by all of those present. Those on hand for the delightful event were, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. August Schlesinger, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Beemer, Mr. and Mrs. William Grove, Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Dickie, Mrs. Ralph Haag, Miss Mary Ellen Glotfelty, Miss Ella Mae Elgin and Miss Louise Peach.

Home Bureau

The members of the Wyoming unit of the Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Earl Kaiser Friday for an all day meeting. The meeting opened at 10:30 o'clock, with a large percent of the members in attendance. The regular business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. August Schlesinger in charge. In the morning the lesson entitled, "Financial and Legal Matters" was held with Mrs. Carl Rosenkrans and Mrs. Lyle Foster as the leaders. It was one of the most interesting and educational lessons ever given, and all thoroughly enjoyed the general discussion which followed in which everyone participated. At noon a most delicious scrambled dinner was served, and the table was laden with all kinds of good food. After everyone had done full justice to the good meal, the business meeting was continued. Mrs. Louise Schoenlook, the home advisor, gave the next lesson on "Educational Advantages in Lee County." This proved to be of great interest to those mothers who have children in school, or who are about to have children enter school soon. When this lesson had been discussed, the business session was completed and a social hour followed. It was one of the outstanding events of the year and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. It was announced that their next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Fern Taylor on March 2, and all are urged to be on hand for these always intresting meetings.

Euchre Club

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Eich entertained the members of the Euchre club at their home Sunday evening for their usual meeting. The evening was spent playing euchre and prizes were awarded to the men and women. Mrs. Robert Avery won high honrs for the ladies and Mrs. Gus Englehardt received the consolation prize. For the men, William Baillas was top scorer, and Gus Englehardt finished with the low score. When the games had been completed, the hostess served delicious refreshments to round out a pleasant evening for all. Those on hand for the evening's entertainment were, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Englehardt and son Oscar, Mr. and Mrs. George Efferding and daughter Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shaddick and daughters, Jayce and Janet, and son Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Will Hof and grandson Larry Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. William Baillas, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kern, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Avery, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaiser, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Eich and son Jackie, of Paw Paw; Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Eich and son and Louis Wilhelm, Mendota.

Announces Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merriman announce the marriage of their son Pfc. Merritt Merriman, to Miss Emma Vargas, on January 27, at 5:00 o'clock in San Francisco. Pfc. Merriman is a proud member of the Navy band and is being transferred to Ft. Lewis, Washington. His wife will accompany him shortly. And the most sincere best wishes and the heartiest congratulations of their many friends are extended to them for many successful years of happy married life together.

Contract Club

Mrs. Corda Gibbs was hostess to the ladies of the contract club at her home Monday evening. Mrs. F. G. Avery won high honors and Mrs. S. R. Dickie furnished with the consolation prize. The hostess then served a dainty lunch to complete an enjoyable evening for all.

Receives Pilot's Wings

Francis Bangtson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bangtson of Walnut was graduated as a flight officer on Thursday, Feb. 1, 1945, at Moore Field, Mission, Texas. He received his wings as a pilot and will be home Sunday for a 10-day leave with his parents, the first leave of his training. F/O Bangtson entered the army air corps on August 18, 1943 at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. He was sent to Kansas City, Mo. for four months of college training, to San Antonio, Texas for preflight, Coleman, Texas for primary flight, to Waco, Texas for basic and to Moore Field for advanced training. F/O Bangtson was a member of the 1943 graduating class of Walnut Community high school.

Carol Casey Celebrates Her Ninth Birthday

Mrs. Gertrude Casey was hostess on Friday evening to 12 of Carol's classmates whom she had invited in to help her daughter Carol celebrate her ninth birthday. The evening was spent by taking her guests to a movie. She then took them to the Frederick restaurant where she unwrapped her lovely gifts and a lunch of ice cream and cake was served. The birthday cake was baked by Carol's aunt, Mrs. Marge Hardensen.

Those present besides Carol were Donna Mungor, Nancy J. Gustafson, Ann Kindt, Nila Jo Casten, Bonnie and Rita Hardensen, Marilyn Foss, Marjorie Broren, Joan Schrader, Jane Howland and Dorla Albrecht.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oberle and family spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Oberle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van De Velde of Yorktown.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Fritz of East Grove township, Ohio, was baptized last Sunday afternoon in the home of her parents, with Rev. Grimme in charge. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Peach of Walnut were sponsors. The child was named Mary Ann.

Youth Group Elects Miss Dorothy Burkey

The members and friends of the Rock River district of Evangelical Youth Fellowship met in the Sterling Evangelical church last Thursday evening for the regular quarterly rally. The Red Oak E. Y. F. was in charge of the worship service. Miss Dorothy Mae Burkey, president, of the Red Oak group, led the worship service, Mr. Harold Guither read the scripture lesson and Rev. Grimme led the group in prayer. Rev. John Bouldin, adviser of the district was in charge of the business session. Miss Dorothy Burkey was elected secretary of the district. Those who attended from Red Oak were Mises Dorothy Mae Burkey, Edith and Frances Farmer, Caryl and Betty Ioder, Ruth and Lois Baumgartner, Messrs Dean Albrecht, Gene Farmer, Harold Guither, Robert Ridinger, Marvin Ioder and Rev. Grimme. After the business session the entire group went to the Sterling roller skating rink and spent the remainder of the evening skating. All reported having a very good time. The next rally will be held on Thursday, May 1st, at the Perkins Grove Evangelical church.

Services at Red Oak Evangelical Church

The services next Sunday and next week are as follows:

Sunday school at 10:00 a. m. with Verner Heaton in charge. Morning worship at 11:00 with Rev. Grimme in charge and preaching the sermon. 7:00 p. m., the E. Y. F. and the adult league will meet. Evening worship at 7:45 with Rev. Grimme preaching the sermon. The Brotherhood will meet on Monday evening at 8:00 p. m. in the church parlors. Prayer service on Thursday at 7:45 p. m. and choir rehearsal at 8:30 with Miss Edna Worrell in charge.

Red Oak W. M. S. Has Program

The Red Oak Woman's Missionary society sponsored a special Missions Prayer Day program last Sunday morning during the morning worship hour. Mrs. H. E. Grimme, president, was in charge. The service opened with a musical prelude played by Mrs. Walter Baumgartner. Mrs. Grimme read the call to worship and Rev. Grimme offered the invocation. After the singing of "Did You Think to Pray?" Mrs. Irene Heaton read the scripture lesson which was followed with the singing of the hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour" and Mrs. Grimme and Mrs. Clara Guither offered the prayers. Monologue on Prayer Partners was given by Mrs. Harriet Albrecht. After the receiving of the offering Rev. Grimme spoke on the subject "Missions and Prayer," the service closed with the singing of the hymn, "Lord of Harvest, Send Forth Reapers," benediction by Rev. Grimme and the doxology by the congregation. The W. M. S. will cooperate with the women of the churches in Walnut in the observance of the World Day of Prayer, to be held on Friday, Feb. 16 at 2:00 p. m. in the Methodist church of Walnut.

Red Oak Brotherhood to Meet

The Red Oak Albright Brotherhood will meet next Monday evening in the church parlors for the regular monthly meeting at 8:00 p. m. Harold Foss, the president, will have charge of the program and Ed Fahs will serve as the secretary. Devotional services will be in charge of the worship committee. The subject of the special address will be "The Tests of True Discipleship." Refreshments will be served by Messrs. Rufus Bacorn, Ed Baumgartner, John Gerdes and Milton Mattes. The Brotherhood will also sponsor the painting of the kitchen and the hallways of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bacorn entertained Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bacorn at a dinner in their home Sunday in honor of their son Jerry's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bacorn are Jerry's grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hopkins and Gwendolyn Fritz were visitors in Oglesby Saturday afternoon, where Gwendolyn saw her stepfather, Hector De Parro, who is home on a 21-day leave, called by the illness of his mother.

The 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Renner held at the Meek school on Sunday was attended by relatives and friends.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Saunders last Thursday evening a 3½ pound daughter by Ceasarean. At the Princeton hospital Mrs. Saunders is in a critical condition at this writing, having been placed in an oxygen tent on Sunday.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Junior members of the American Red Cross collected and salvaged over 250,000,000 pounds of paper, metals fats, and textiles for war use during one year's time.

OGLE COUNTY COURT HOUSE

Letters of administration have been granted to Emma LaBudde in the estate of John LaBudde of Maryland township. Mr. LaBudde died Dec. 18, 1913, leaving real estate valued at $4500 and personal property valued at $1500. The petition lists as his heirs, Emma LaBudde, his widow, Fannie Johnson, Augusta Johnson, Marie Frickson, Lester LaBudde and Eldon LaBudde, his children.

The first Monday in April has been set for claim day. Attorney for the estate is Martin H. Eakle of Forreston.

Mary B. Hecht, administrator and sole party in interest, has filed her final report in the estate of May K. Barron of Creston, and an order has been entered discharging said administrator and closing the estate.

Final settlement of the estate of Nellie E. O'Kane of Polo has been made by Jennie L. Sweet, executor and she has been discharged and the estate closed by order of court.

Helen J. Zugswerth and John W. McInay, executors of the estate of John L. Zugswerth of Polo have filed a current report of their acts and doings as such executors, which report has been approved by the court.

Helen Mead Jones, conservator of the estate of Otto Deten has filed her current report as such conservator and it has been ordered recorded by the court.

A. W. Dolan, administrator of the estate of Mary Dolan Kennedy has filed his final report as such administrator and said estate has been declared closed and the administrator discharged.

An order assessing inheritance tax has been entered in the estate of Irvin T. Woessner.

An inventory has been filed by Cornell Hall and Lewis Hall, executors, in the estate of Ole O. Hall, deceased.

A suit for divorce has been filed in Ogle county circuit court by Gladys Bearman from William Bearman on charges of cruelty. The Bearmans were married Nov. 30, 1929 at Dixon. Plaintiff seeks the custody of their two children and support money. Attorney A. C. Harris represents the plaintiff.

YANKEE DOODLE ROBOMB

United States engineers completed the first robomb propulsion engine that could be successfully operated three weeks after beginning work on the basic design. The so-called Yankee Doodle robomb may be used against the Germans and the Japanese during the 1945.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.

State of Illinois, County of Lee; ss.
In the County Court.
To Harry S. Beard, Lucille Beard Swarts and Edward Graham and the unknown heirs at law of Kathryn Beard, deceased:

You and each of you will hereby take notice that an instrument purporting to be the last will of Kathryn Beard, deceased, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of the County of Lee, Illinois, together with the petition of Harry S. Beard representing among other things that the names of all the heirs, legatees and devisees of said deceased, are as follows, to-wit:

Harry S. Beard, Lucille Beard Swarts, Edward Graham and the unknown heirs of Kathryn Beard, deceased, and praying that said instrument be admitted to probate as the last will of said deceased, and that the same be ordered recorded.

You will also take notice that the hearing on said petition and the proof of said purported last will has been set by said Court for the 12th day of March, 1945, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the County Court room in the City of Dixon in said County, when and where you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why said purported last will should not be admitted to probate.

Dated this 7th day of February, 1945.

Sterling D. Schrock,
Clerk of the County Court of said County.
Edward A. Jones, Attorney.

Gets Letters From Four Sons

Mrs. Mary Garland has two sons overseas, Pvt. James who is in a replacement battalion in the European theater of operations and S-Sgt. Joseph who is still with Sterling's old Company M, 129th Infantry in the Pacific area. Two other sons are in the States with the armed forces. David, in the Navy, who is on the west coast, and Amos, who is in training with the medical corps in Texas. S-Sgt. Joseph has seen service in the Fijis, New Hebrides, Solomons, Guadalcanal, Bougainville and is now participating in the Luzon invasion. Pvt. James Garland stated that no mail had caught up with him since he landed in France, that he has since arrived in Germany, was on the sick list and was in a rest camp in Germany.

Stationed In Alaska

Robert E. McCoy, Cox. 554-518 C. G. 500-65 is with the U. S. C. G. Patrol Base at Craig, Alaska.

Gilbert Lehman Jr., son of G. C. Lehman, left Wednesday for Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to be inducted in the Army Air Corps. He will be stationed at Keesler Field, Miss.

Pfc. John Whitmore left Wednesday to report at Ft. Sheridan for re-assignment.

Sgt. Harold V. Schaefer of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, spent a few days stop over with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaefer.

Services Bombing

Mrs. T. P. Long received the following news from her granddaughter, Ensign John F. Treacy telephoned his wife, the former Joan Long, from a hospital in California that his ship had been bombed and sunk and that the survivors had been brought to this country for medical treatment. In accordance with restrictions he gave only the most meagre details. Ensign Treacy left the States August 1, 1944, for the Pacific theater. During L. S. T. maneuvers he sustained a broken arm and was taken from the ship and confined in a New Hebrides hospital. He then rejoned his crew and took part in the Leyte invasion Oct. 20. He has received no mail since Nov. and that was the announcement of the birth of his son. Ensign Treacy wishes to visit his wife and baby in Sterling.

Home On Furlough

Cpl. Edwarfd Long of Ft. Geo. Meade, Md., arrived home to spend a two weeks furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Long. Cadet Nurse Helen Long of Elgin is home for a visit in the home of her parents during her brother's furlough.

Relatives In Service

Sgt. Martin Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, has been overseas for the past 28 months and is at Guadalcanal, and is with the Engineers Maintenance Corp.

Sister and brother of Mrs. Kenneth Willstead:

Cpl. Frances Orwig is at Camp LeJean, N. C.

Pfc. James R. Orwig U. S. M. C. R. is in the South Pacific and Pfc. Charles E. Orwig is somewhere in Germany.

Death Of Mrs. Adams

Friends who remember Mrs. Laura Adams, 54, of Rock Falls, who has been a nurse in Harmon for several years, passed away in the Sterling public hospital following an operation. Funeral rites took place Tuesday afternoon in the Rock Falls Methodist church with interment in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

The last of the season before Lent card party and dance was held in St. Thannen's church basement Tuesday evening. A good crowd attended. Winners in cards were, in euchre, Mrs. Fred Powers and Cecil McCormick; in five hundred, were Mrs. Lloyd Considene and Cyrl Ryan. The door prize went to Mrs. Chas. Miller.

Harmon Briefs

Wm. Jakel of Jamestown, N. D., is visiting in the home of his sister, Mrs. Theresa Petri. Mr. Jakel had spent some time at Hot Springs before coming here.

Rural carrier I. H. Perkins is taking a few weeks vacation from his duties as letter carrier. Mr. Perkins and wife are visiting relatives in Chicago.

Visitors in the Winkel brothers' home over the weekend, were, their cousins, Mary Louise and Charles Fieg and Dorothy Crook of LaGrange.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brockman and children of Morrison were Sunday visitors here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kent.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Eisele and Mr. and Mrs. John Hicks entertained at the Eisele home Saturday evening for Dorothy Eisele and Raymond Hicks, it being their birthday. The evening was spent in playing Pinochle and music. John Russell and Lula Hicks received high prize, and Russell Hicks and Dorothy Eisele received low. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Lowery, Sgt. and Mrs. Henry Lowery, Martha Bruce, Russell Hicks, Misses Marcele Kerley, Verla Teske, Emmett Eisele, Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobs and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. John Hicks and sons, Raymond and Ross, of Harmon. They both received many nice presents and all departed wishing them many happy birthdays. Lunch was served.

AVRE

A new special mortar mounted on a mechanized vehicle similar to a tank has been developed by the British. Known as the AVRE, this mortar hurls an explosive charge known as the "Dustbin," greater than any yet known for a gun of similar dimensions.

THE MOST WARMLY HUMAN STORY OF A FAMILY...
THE MIGHTIEST PANORAMA OF THRILLS EVER FILMED!

"You Germans have made it clear, at last! This is a fight against the most evil power the world has known!"
"A woman's love is as much a part of him as his very mind—or heart."
Versailles!... Aflame with a thousand intrigues... in a surging battle for power!
"There's a spotlight on this house, Edith! I can't protect you from gossip!"
THE MOST IMPORTANT EVENT IN 50 YEARS OF MOTION PICTURE ENTERTAINMENT!
